Vote on annexation, exemptions due school discussion

Canyon School Board members, their proposed $6 million bond issue for new school construction in limbo for now, will consider Tuesday calling a special election to assess voter opinion on de-annexation of north district lands and offering of a $3,000 tax exemption to the elderly.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs said Thursday he will propose the idea of a voluntary referendum on the two items, both major issues in the bond issue election campaign which ended Tuesday with defeat of the $6 million measure, but will not necessarily recommend board members call such an election.

"I think it would be an error not to give some attention to the major issues," Jacobs said, "because if none of them are resolved, it's obvious they will be major issues again."

Board members are also to consider Tuesday night whether to call another bond issue election, possibly for some time after Jan. 1, and Jacobs said it might be good to have the voluntary referendum prior to the second bond issue election.

Jacobs said a referendum ballot for local voters might contain the two issues, specifically outlined, for example, to seek voter opinion on the CISD de-annexation of certain undeveloped and unoccupied lands west of Coulter road in the north part of the district and on the granting of a $3,000 homestead tax exemption for those over age 65.

"It might be good business," Jacobs said. "We could have it pretty quick. We could get it worked up in the next two to three weeks and have it and then the bond issue election in another week or two after that."

While Jacobs said he might not recommend a referendum to the school board, he indicated he might support such a proposition.

"If I were doing it in the next hour or two, I think I'd recommend this," he said. "But, I'd just rather bring it up as an item of discussion so we could share the discussion."

Jacobs said he feels it might be advantageous to the board to assess public opinion through a referendum, particularly after a summer 1974 school district survey by a University of Texas team indicated the majority of local voters would not support de-annexation of CISD lands.

The CISD financial advisor, Bob Davis of Amarillo, told board members following last Tuesday's election to call an immediate election for the same purpose before the matter had time "to cool off."

That possibility will be discussed by board members at their Tuesday session.

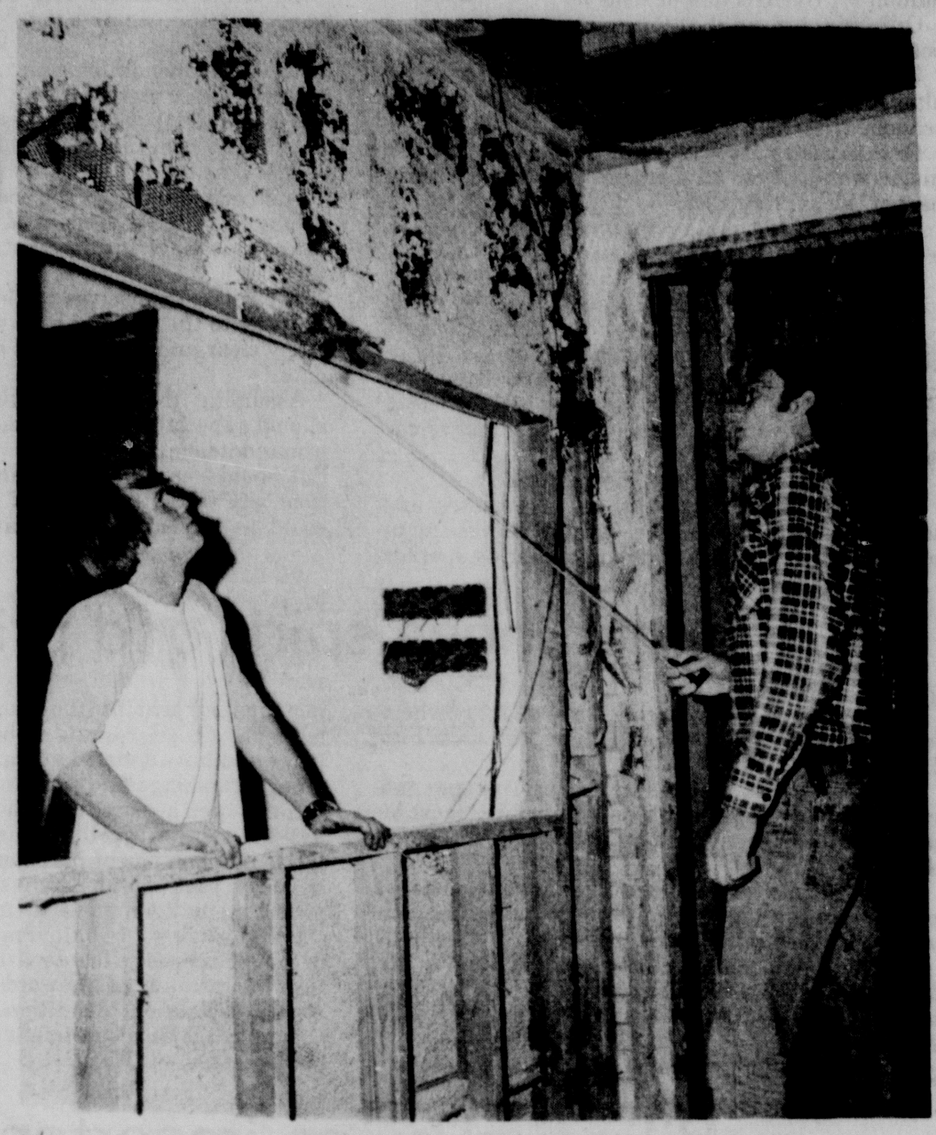

They are also to discuss procedures to raise the CISD tax valuations for the 1976-77 school year.

A citizens advisory group meeting earlier this fall recommended the board raise the taxable value of property to the 100 percent mark for computing taxes but lower the dollar levy per $100 to produce income.

They also recommended a full re-valuation of property be accomplished in the district to reflect true fair market values.

Board members will discuss

Metcalf suggests annexation by city

Lair section said in violation

A subdivision adjacent the north Canyon city limits is in violation of the city's subdivision ordinance, will be a headache to the city in the future and would be better controlled if it were annexed into the city, planning and zoning board members were told Thursday night.

City Manager Glen Metcalf suggested annexation of the section of land just north of Hunsley Road and north of the Hunsley Hills development as a solution to the problems he says will occur in the subdivision in the future.

Planning and Zoning Commission members instructed Metcalf to meet with City Engineer Bill McMorries and City Attorney Elton Cox this week and report back at a special Thursday session with specific recommendations.

Metcalf told the commission Thursday a plat filed by A.W. Lair, developer of Hunsley Hills and the north section, for the section which abutts the north city limits is in violation of the city's subdivision ordinance and that Lair could be fined up to $200 per day for each day the subdivision is in violation.

The area falls within the purview of the city planning and zoning commission under state law and city ordinance because it lies within the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction, he said.

Metcalf said Lair was initially warned of the possibility of violating the city ordinance in March 1974 by then-City Manager George Loudder, because no preliminary plat had been filed and yet road construction was underway in the area.

"No action was taken by Mr. Lair in that respect and Mr. Lair continued to violate the subdivision ordinance as is evident if any of you drive over this land," Metcalf said. "Existing streets are there and the lots have been either sold or are under contract, which is a violation of the subdivision ordinance."

Metcalf said he penned another letter to Lair recently and Lair did file a preliminary plat, but, he said, the plat still does not meet the ordinance requirements.

The plat is in violation because it does not include drawings of adjacent areas to insure orderly growth and because Lair has continued to develop the property, Metcalf said.

In addition, Metcalf said, the road which Lair has constructed in the subdivision does not meet city specifications.

The road and the fact that the developer plans to have each tract provide its own water and septic tank facilities will add to the city's burden in the future, Metcalf contended.

He predicted that some day residents of the area will want to be annexed into the city and the city will have to assume responsibility for providing water and sewer lines and a standard road for the area.

"The solution to the whole situation would be annexation," Metcalf said. "My recommendation would be that development be stopped until either it is annexed into the city limits or Mr. Lair is willing to comply with the city subdivision ordinance."

"We need to be very careful not to set an undesirable precedent," said commissioner Kenneth Olsen.

Carroll Vaughn, who works with Lair on the development projects, contended Lair intends to put in a more rural-type development in the section and would be willing to comply with specific contentions from Metcalf if those contentions could be put down on paper.

"We feel like definitely it will not be detrimental to the City of Canyon," he said.

Vaughn said annexation would not be acceptable.

Voter registration forms due out in Spanish and English

The dust is yet to settle over voter registration procedures for Texas counties and it appeared Friday two late-week rulings could jam up two local registration drives scheduled to get underway soon.

Not the least of the problems, according to Randall County Tax Collector Mrs. Audrey Bruse, is that to be sure she complies with federal and state laws she will probably mail to each of 30,000 registered voters on her rolls a voter registration form printed in English and one printed in Spanish.

Mrs. Bruse is to mail voter registration applications to all voters on her lists this week, but she said she doesn't yet have the 30,000 or so Spanish-language forms which must accompany the English forms.

Nor will she have Spanish-language forms available this week when Gene Howe area boosters are supposed to begin canvassing their area for a voter registration drive in preparation for an anticipated Canyon School District bond issue election some time after the first of the year.

Banquet, telethon tentatively planned

WT athletic fund drive outlined

West Texas State University officials met with Amarillo and Canyon area businessmen and civic leaders Friday to make formal plans for a fund-raising effort to raise $125,000 to balance the university's athletic budget.

Keith Winter, who will coordinate the drive, said the approach toward fund-raising prior to Jan. 1 will be to ask individuals and firms for donations in the hopes they will find the tax deduction advantageous.

Winter said he has asked the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, the Cager Club, the Buffalo Club, Ex-Lettermen Club, Touchdown Club, Alumni Association, faculty and students to work with their groups to raise funds for the drive.

Winter and University President Lloyd Watkins met with the WTSU Student Senate Monday to seek fund-raising ideas for students on campus.

The initial thrust of the drive, Winter said, that one which offers a tax deduction, will be made in Canyon, Amarillo and possibly Hereford.

Another main thrust for the effort is now being investigated as only a possibility by Winter. He has suggested a banquet be held to kick-off the fund-raising efforts, possibly featuring ex-Buffaloes who are now in the professional football ranks.

Letters are to be mailed to all alumni seeking donations during February.

And, Winter is also investigating the possibility of a telethon to benefit the athletic program.

University regents, meeting earlier this month, gave the athletic department until May 1976 to raise $125,000 to balance the proposed 1976-77 budget. If the funds are not raised, regents said, the budget will be cut by the amount of the deficit.

Regents are to consider during a scheduled January meeting whether to establish a permanent athletic council to continue the fund-raising activities on a year-to-year basis.

Students taking community recreation at WTSU threw a party recently for senior citizens. Here, Roy Rhoten and Monica Anderle (standing) teach Trent's 42, a domino game based on crazy bridge which instructor Mary Hill created for the party, to Eutha Hamblen, Mrs. Charles Conaster, Rae Walters and Mary Johnson.

Proposals heard on girl sports

West Texas State University is in compliance with Title IX, the controversial federal law concerning sex discrimination, except in its women's athletic program where more needs to be done, the chairman of a special committee said Thursday.

Miss Karen Johnson, WTSU legal counsel and chairman of a committee appointed by President Lloyd Watkins to investigate WTSU compliance with the title, said the committee Wednesday formulated several recommendations for delivery to Watkins concerning the upgrading of women's athletics.

Watkins has said in the past the university must provide more money and more equitability for women's athletics.

The committee, she said, reviewed Wednesday the compliance of the university in student recruiting, student enrollment procedures, and other policies relating to students and found WTSU in compliance with the tents of Title IX.

The committee also reviewed recommendations from Miss Allene Stovall, head of women's athletics.

Miss Johnson would not reveal the specifics of the recommendations which have been passed on to Watkins.

She said the recommendations refer, though, to the scheduling of women's games, the need for scholarships, new equipment and coaching schedules.

"There was a general feeling more needs to be done," she said. "There are many things we can do that won't cost any money, primarily a change in attitude and a recognition of women's athletics."

Gene Howe folks plan vote drive fr for election

Even before Canyon School Board members have discussed calling a second $6 million bond issue election, parents and teachers at Gene Howe Elementary School are laying plans for an all-out effort in their area to assure its passage.

Last Tuesday's bond issue received overwhelming voter approval in the Gene Howe area, the area in which two proposed new schools will be built if financing is okayed, but only about a fourth of the registered voters in the area went to the polls.

Mary Jo Smith, Gene Howe teacher, said Thursday she is organizing a group which will make every effort between now and another bond election to register every potential voter in the north part of the district.

She said while the voter registration lists provided the school district for the Tuesday balloting showed a total of 2,000 voters in Gene Howe area, many of those shown as registered have moved.

Others, particularly about 60 new voters in the Estacado Estates subdivision, she said, were not able to register in time for the Tuesday election.

She said she hopes to have several interested boosters deputized to register potential voters. Voter registration applications will also be made available at Gene Howe school.

Tuesday's bond issue vote failed by a 300-vote margin with a 2 to 1 against vote cast in Canyon to more than offset the support in the Gene Howe area.

Mrs. Smith hopes to neutralize the negative vote in Canyon by a large turnout in Gene Howe and she is also planning a telephone campaign to spur voter interest prior to another election.

She was to have met Friday afternoon with potential workers to begin canvassing the Palisades, Lake Tanglewood and other development areas.

Canyon board members Tuesday night, following the election, were urged by their financial advisor, Bob Davis, to act swiftly to call another bond issue election.

They are to meet this Tuesday night to consider that possibility along with other possibilities since the bond issue failed.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the school administration building.

Council stand support big, small at WT

Support of a Faculty Council request that West Texas State University faculty members hold their student evaluation forms at department level appeared to fluctuate by department at week's end as it appeared the semi-boycott would go into the second school term.

Dr. Walter L. Shelly, council chairman, said Friday the council will discuss the issue of student evaluation of faculty again at its first meeting of the second semester in January.

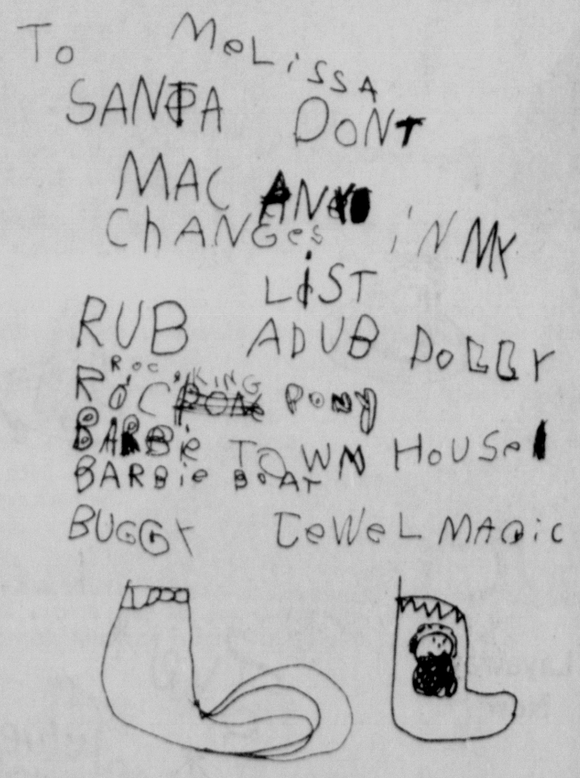

The university-wide Tenure and Promotion Committee, the decisions of which the faculty council protests, was to have met late Friday after the council voted the week before to continue the boycott until several issues were resolved.

A poll by The Canyon News of department heads on campus revealed Thursday that support for the council call ranged from full in some departments to none in others.

More than a dozen department heads in each college or school of the university were contacted about participation in student evaluations.

One department head, for example, reported that all his faculty members, numbering 11, had requested their student evaluation forms be held at department level and not passed on for computer manipulation until the controversy over evaluation between faculty coun-

Issue vote idea good one

The negative vote cast by the majority in Tuesday's school bond issue election can be interpreted to mean any number of things.

Opponents of the bond issue have said the failure of the issue to pass voter approval is tantamount to a mandate to the school board to (a) rid the Canyon school district of certain undeveloped but to-be-developed lands west of the Canyon expressway, and (b) to grant to taxpayers over the age of 65 a $3000 tax exemption on their homesteads.

If the negative vote is to be considered a mandate, it might also be interpreted as a mandate for the planned expenditure of somewhat less than $6 million for construction of schools.

Or it might mean that the voters want the school board to allow students to wear their hair long.

Or that the voters want the school board to forget altogether for now the thought of building new schools.

Or that the voters want the school board to, with a magic wand, sever all Canyon ties with the north part of the district.

Or, well, the list, while certainly finite, could go on a good bit longer.

The point being, of course, that the school board, looking at columns of raw figures, each of which represents one voters ballot position, cannot look behind the "x" and read the voter's mind.

No single mandate can emerge from the bond issue election because so many issues went into its defeat, not the least of which may have been a simple reluctance to raise taxes.

What, then, should the school board do next?

They could, certainly, come back immediately and schedule another bond issue, without addressing or solving any of the issues which apparently sparked the large negative turn-out in Canyon, and then calling yet another one should the next election fail. This ram-it-down-their-throats-until-they-swallow-it approach can gain nothing, given the overwhelming negative numbers in Canyon itself.

Or, the school board could, and apparently will, reexamine some of the recent board stands on deannexation of property and property tax exemptions, perhaps altering those stands and hoping that another bond issue would carry with those issues out of the way.

The latter alternative is a gamble, at best, given the fact that the negative mandate is uncertain, because while board members may be sure that something motivated the negative vote, they cannot pinpoint that something.

The recommendation Supt. Jerry Jacobs plans to make Tuesday night — that the board consider calling for a special election to test voter feelings on the issues of de-annexation and the $3000 tax exemption — is a sensible one.

Such an initiative by the board would illustrate its good will in these issues and would also allow the board to actually find out what the voters think about the issues.

The voters themselves would have an opportunity to speak to the issues in a way which could be absolutely clear and which would amount to a true mandate.

Assuming the board would act in good faith, should a special election for these issues be called and a mandate emerge from the votes, the special election could clear the way for another bond issue election, one where the issue of education of children could be a foremost consideration.—C.W.

Welcome to Peter Pan

By CARROLL WILSON

Peter Pan, who declines to leave Never-Neverland with the lovely Wendy by validly arguing that he doesn't want to grow up, an eventuality once believed inherent in non-fictional society, could have his desire in modern America.

Intellectual growth in America, it appears, is arrested at the Peter Pan level, a level of make-believe and flights of fancy, a level where cultural artifacts are only the most basic and where culture is defined in emotional terms.

Johnny can't write, asserts the author of an article in the latest Newsweek. And, it spends six pages documenting that fact as well as uncovering a few of the reasons why Johnny can't write.

Of course, it's appalling enough that Johnny can't write. But, there's more and more evidence that Johnny can't or won't read, either, considered by some a contributing factor to his lack of ability to write.

There is evidence, too, that Johnny, who can't read or write, also can't speak intelligibly, his verbal language reflecting the inability to communicate on the page, his sentences of the most simple variety strung together with "you knows," and "uhs," and "likes."

What it all boils down to, according to a recent study by the University of Texas, is that Johnny when he's Johnny and Johnny when he's Mr. Doe simply cannot function effectively in today's society. The study, according to a report in this month's Texas Outlook, found an astounding number of Americans who cannot perform such simple communicative tasks as filling out a bank deposit slip correctly, or reading an equal opportunity notice, or solving such simple mathematical problems as figuring which package of cereal would be the best buy according to weight and price.

Intellectual growth is apparently arrested somewhere in the elementary grades and no real growth takes place even through college, if the studies are correct.

Peter Pan, welcome. You need not grow in America. But, beware. There's a Captain Hook lurking here, too.

His specter, we have assumed these many years, is behind us, passed up long ago, helplessly locked in a past where communication was a series of grunts and groans, the violent thrust of a stone tomahawk, or crudely sketched animals on a cave wall.

The relapse into illiteracy is a manifestation of a cultural death-wish, itself manifested in a television-tube-fed populace, a wish to escape the realities of the day through subtle excision of communcative arts. Thus goes a vicious and now virtually uncontrollable cycle, with lack of literacy feeding the need for more spoon-fed pseudo-reality, and spoon-fed reality depending for its sustenance on lack of literacy.

The cycle ends on the gangplank of Hook's offshore Jolly Roger with the moustachioed villain, rapier in hand, forcing us toward cultural oblivion.—C.W.

Firemen have spirit and pride

Community spirit and pride is prevalent nowhere in Canyon more than in the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department.

Businessman and bricklayer, university types and city employees make up a small unit which must be unique in the Texas Panhandle if not in the entire state.

The department's uniqueness lies not only in its esprit de corps, in its pride in turning knowledge into action, but also in its desire to service.

Nowhere is the latter better illustrated than in the long-awaited new Canyon city hall, the bulk of which is used by the fire department for housing the city's fire trucks.

In the few short weeks since the firemen began moving their gear into the completed building, volunteers have been working to build various furniture items and have donated a large part of their kitty for other furnishings and equipment.

It has been a source of pride for the department to boast in the past that the city is called upon only rarely for new equipment purchases, those primarily of major proportion, the purchase prices usually being picked up by the firemen themselves.

Canyon's new city hall, if nothing else, is a tribute to the service of the fire department volunteers, who take the meaning of the word to a point beyond the standard Webster's definition.

Stop by the fire department's new facilities. You'll be impressed.—C.W.

Bilingual signs important

Extension of the voting rights act to Texas, which means all ballots and voting materials must be duplicated in English and Spanish, sets an interesting philosophical precedent.

Voting may be the most important act of a citizen of a political entity, and, apparently that is the tacit assumption underlying the extension of the act to the state and its subdivisions.

But, voting is certainly not the most important act of the voter outside the political realm, and it would seem the federal government could extend its logic in the forced use of bi-lingual ballots to intervention in other areas of life.

Certain human functions, after all, are antecedent to any political act, functions such as eating and using the restroom.

It would seem only fitting that if the federal government is to mandate the language of our ballots, it should, also in the interest of equality, mandate bilingual or multi-lingual food labels, restaurant menus, and restroom door signs.—C.W.

Our World

Christmas spirit is love

BY ANN BROWN

About this time each year we hear the annual complaint (usually from the procrastinators), "But I just can't seem to get into the spirit of Christmas."

If asked to define the Christmas spirit, each individual would probably give a different definition.

Some equate Christmas with the tree, the lights, the carols, the tinsel and decorations, holiday goodies and gifts, Christmas cards, fellowship with beloved friends and relatives, or the Christmas church service or midnight mass.

A few people declare the Christmas spirit arrives at their house automatically with December first. Others seem to keep it — at least they plan their entire year around Christmas. The budget, the vacation, their work — all must be tailored to fit the holidays.

The families who make Christmas the happy climax of the entire year simply cannot comprehend the sharp rise in crime — especially murder and suicide — at Christmas time.

But unless one feels the spirit of Christmas there is no Christmas for him. All the music, tinsel, and decorations are mere outward displays that may actually depress the person who has no Christmas spirit. One poet expressed it this way:

It isn't the holly; it isn't the snow.

It isn't the tree or the firelight's glow.

It's the warmth that comes to the hearts of men,

When the Christmas spirit returns again.

Everything is relative. When everyone around them is busy and happy, it makes it more difficult for the person who cannot be busy or happy. For the old, the bereaved, the estranged, or the newly-divorced, Christmas may be an unendurable nightmare.

Old men are especially prone to suicide at Christmas time. Why?

The old man can usually recall vividly the time when he was a little boy, and Christmas was a time of excitement, joy, and gladness.

Perhaps the most exhilarating time of all was when he was a young man; surrounded by girl friends and a doting family, Christmas was the most delightful time of the year.

Christmas took on a new meaning for the young father who turned into a real Santa for his wife and children.

When he became a grandfather, the patriarch could look forward to having his children together again at Christmas, and enjoying his grandchildren.

But the great grandfather may no longer have a home — nor a family to visit him.

The ghosts of so many happy holidays past may be more than the forgotten old man can endure. Lonely ladies can cry; lonely men may shoot themselves.

If you are having difficulty getting into the Christmas spirit, seek out some lonely people who may be forgotten this Christmas, and go to see them. They enjoy family most, of course, but anyone who cares enough to visit them will be welcome.

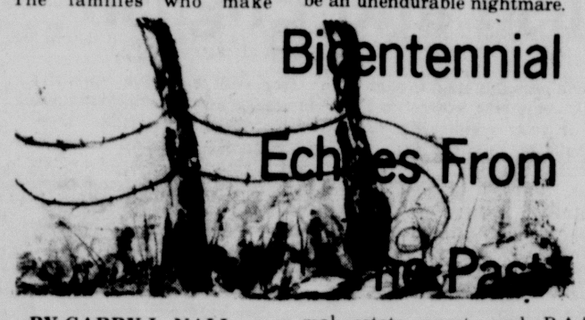

Old people seldom need gifts — unless it is something they can eat or wear. They have learned there is little value in things.

The lonely person needs the same things we all treasure: love expressed through fellowship and the human touch. Without love all gifts are bare.

What eloquent testimony to the grace of God that He made earth's greatest gift free and available to us all: Love, best expressed through God's gift of His Son for our salvation, is still life's most precious gift.

The spirit of Christmas is love. And love is not getting but giving.

Love is like happiness: The more you give away the more you have for yourself.

BY GARRY L. NALL

In recognition of the rapid population growth of western Texas during the first decade of the twentieth century, the Thirty-first Legislature enacted and Governor Tom Campbell signed into law on March 31, 1909, a bill authorizing the establishment of a normal school for teachers to be located west of the ninety-eighth meridian. According to the terms of the legislation, a selection committee which eventually included Lt. Governor A.B. Davidson, Speaker of the House of Representatives John Marshall, and Superintendent of Public Instruction R.B. Cousins would choose a site from those communities willing to make donations for the creation of West Texas Normal College.

Immediately after the legislation was approved, Canyon civic leaders launched a campaign to secure the normal school for their city. At a courtroom-packed rally in the Randall County Court House in mid-April, local citizens endorsed a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to secure monetary and land pledges, to solicit aid from Amarillo, and to invite the state committee to visit the city. L.T. Lester, president of the First National Bank, L.E. Cowling, a real estate agent, and R.A. Terrill, publisher of the Randall County News, were subsequently chosen to formulate and submit the community's proposal.

The Canyon committee members worked diligently through the spring and summer of 1909 in preparing and securing support for the town's bid. They

Don't lose control of school

To The Editor:

Thank you for your past cooperation in presenting both sides of the school bond issue. I would again like to note that the 2 to 1 vote against in the December 9th bond election from the Canyon area, compared to the 3 to 1 for outside this area, should show us that there is a mandate from the Canyon area not to lose control of our school system. We need to cooperate to resolve present and future problems on this basis.

Thank you,

Empty Stocking Fund Continues To Grow With City Donations

Christmas gifts for those in need are oftentimes simply necessities of everyday living and gifts for those in need will result as monetary gift are deposited to the accounts of the Canyon Community Family Services Organization.

The CCFSO's "empty stocking" fund continued to grow this week with donations including $15 from Larry Holman; $25 from Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Westoff; $25 from the Evening Lions Club; and a $25 gift from Ann W. Palmer. Donations of $50 from Herman O'Brien and $35 from the Episcopal University Center last week bring the total "empty stocking" collection to $175.00 at the current time.

Anyone wishing to provide the CCFSO with a donation may deposit their gift at either the First National Bank or West Texas State Bank in Canyon. Other than meeting the needs of those less fortunate at Christmas, the funds are used in a year round project to benefit those residents who are in need.

Churches across the city today have collection boxes to receive canned goods and other necessities which will be distributed to those in need by the CCFSO.

Carmen Hernandez, projects chairman for the CCFSO, this week noted that a local family is in need of coats for the winter and would like to have the funds to catch up on delinquent house trailer payments.

"The father has been jobless for two months and the sole income of the family comes from the mother's occasional housekeeping jobs. The family includes four young children," stated Mrs. Hernandez.

"I've also talked with one five year old boy who just wants a pair of boots for himself and a coat for his sister," states Mrs. Hernandez.

The young boy's family was deserted by the father some three years ago. His mother has been the sole support for the family which lost their home and furniture as a result of the desertion three years ago.

Another young lady of the community wants to "go home for Christmas." The university student hasn't seen her family for a year now and would like to visit with them downstate during the holidays but is in need of funds for transportation home.

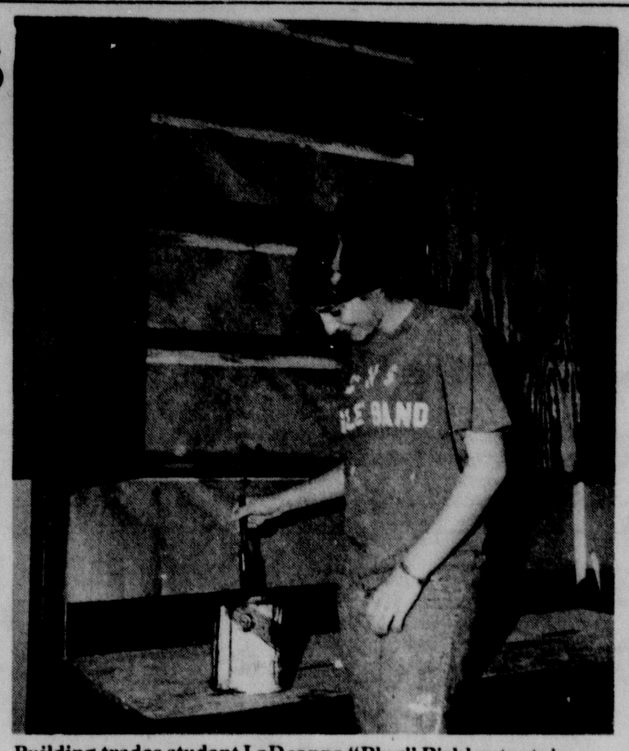

"She's a good worker and would even be willing to help with afternoon and evening parties to raise her own funds to go home for the holidays," stated Mrs. Hernandez. (Anyone desiring to provide pre-holiday employment for the student may call 655-7324).

Santa's Gift Delivery Depending On Letters

Santa Claus has informed The Canyon News that he is about ready to start packing his sleigh for the trip to the Texas Panhandle and will be making a stop in Canyon.

However Santa hasn't heard from all the boys and girls here and really is puzzled at what to leave for them on Christmas Eve. The jolly gentleman can't really be expected to remember each child's address and a letter giving directions would be a big help to him.

To solve Santa's predicament he suggested that each boy and girl write him a special letter and address it to The Canyon News at Box 779. All letters will be promptly forwarded to Santa so that he can leave the right gift at each child's home for Christmas. (Letters will also be published in the Christmas edition of the paper).

obtained pledges of money and land from local citizens. They induced Superintendent Cousins to come from Austin to speak at the high school commencement in May. They arranged a meeting with Amarillo leaders, despite the fact that the neighboring city was also seeking the college.

When the state selection committee convened a hearing in Ft. Worth on August 9, 1909, the Canyon representatives encountered competition from twenty-seven other West Texas towns. Among the offers submitted were $50,000 in cash and twenty acres from Amarillo, $87,500 cash and thirty acres from Abilene, $65,000 and twenty acres from Tulia, and $35,000 and thirty acres from Clarendon.

Canyon's proposal surpassed all other bids. Besides promising to donate a suitable land site, the local citizens agreed to spend $100,100 on a president's home, a gymnasium and natatorium, a dormitory, sidewalks and landscape gardening, a waterworks system, a sewage system, and such materials as cement, sand and gravel, brick, lime, stone or terra cotta for buildings. Any excess funds could be used at the state's discretion.

Following the Ft. Worth meeting, the state selection committee made a twenty-one city tour. While in Canyon on August 15 and 16, residents entertained the visitors with a luncheon at the Palo Duro Club grounds and a sightseeing trip to the canyon. The committee members also looked at a wide variety of land tracts in all sections of the town. After leaving Canyon, the committee completed their survey, and on September 2 unanimously chose Canyon as the site for West Texas Normal College.

Upon receipt of the announcement that same day, Canyon leaders began making plans for a giant celebration on the following night. Local residents, along with several hundred persons from throughout the Panhandle who arrived on special trains organized at Hereford, Plainview, and Amarillo, gathered on the north side of the court house square to hear speeches by various dignitaries. In his address before the celebrants, State Representative J.R. Bowman probably expressed one of the primary reasons for the regional joy when he declared: "This is the first gift at the hands of the state of Texas to the Panhandle country, but it will be far from the last."

The question of why a town of only 1,400 citizens in a seemingly remote area was chosen over more centrally-located and populous communities was raised. The selection committee informed the State Board of Education that they based their decision upon the community's excellent conditions of health, climate, quality and quantity of water as well as the fine social and religious environment. A disappointed editor for the Abilene Daily News theorized that Canyon was a compromise choice between his city and San Angelo. A Dallas News writer more bluntly declared: "If there were any 'outsiders' who didn't know the purchasing power of Canyon's $100,000 they must have been poets or some other kind of people who do not know the value of money." Later, Superintendent Cousins who resigned his post to become president of the institution hinted that Amarillo would have had a better chance had there been no saloons in that city. Probably most of these factors plus the town's central location in an area experiencing a population boom contributed to the decision.

Canyon citizens did not concern themselves with the reasons for their community's selection, for they jubilantly joined with state officials in organizing and building the school. On September 10, 1910, West Texas Normal College opened its doors as a state educational institution.

Kids Make Room For Kindergarten

High school building trades students have nearly completed remodeling the old hospital building now owned by the school district for kindergarten classes next year.

Only about a week's work remains on the project, building trades instructor Harold Hagemeier estimated. After that, carpet will be installed.

However, unless an unexpected enrollment surge comes after Christmas, kindergarten classes won't begin in the new building until next fall, elementary curriculum director Vondean McGregor, said.

But the early childhood development class, which is meeting now in one of the remaining hospital rooms, will move into their new quarters as soon as the room is ready.

This is the first renovation work for the building trades classes, which have previously tackled such major projects as building a new home.

"As a consequence, they are missing some of the things they would experience in new construction, like concrete work," said Hagemeier.

"But they've gained considerable experience in the typical remodeling work that's involved in tearing out and replacing with new."

The students who have worked on the renovation since September include 22 boys and one girl. A shift of 10 junior and senior students works in the morning and 13 work during the afternoon.

Structurally, they found the building sound, but the many partitions that made up hospital rooms had to be removed to form the large, open kindergarten area. Plaster was torn out and columns and beams to help carry the roof load were installed.

"We almost had to gut the electrical system," Hagemeier explained. "It was old and we had to tear it out, reroute the air conditioning and heating duct work."

Cost of the renovation, so far, has been $8,916.72, for materials, according to school business manager Ronnie Woods. This doesn't include carpet costs. Labor, of course, is free.

The kindergarten area is designed as a large open space partitioned where needed with big, roll-around bookcases. The three teachers, who will each have morning and afternoon sessions, will often follow a team approach with their classes, Mrs. McGregor said.

The youngsters will begin and end each day with their individual teacher, but other activities will be done in interest centers. Group activities such as singing will be carried out in the common, open space.

Kindergarten teachers are Peggy Trosper, Virginia Bonifield and Linda Baker.

The early childhood development class will meet in a smaller room to the left of the entrance. This class is taught by Mary Lynn Sutton.

The old building contains still other rooms that can be renovated later.

With the remodeling finished, the building trades classes will be starting other projects after Christmas. Hagemeier said he was considering building another new home and, likely, the classes would be building more portable classrooms.

Advisory Panels Meet Next Week

The community education advisory committees for Gene Howe and Canyon will meet next week to discuss the spring schedules.

The Gene Howe committee will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. and the Canyon group will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in room 108 of the Canyon High School cil and tenure and promotion committee is resolved.

Another department head, one who has 11 faculty members also, reported only two of his faculty had asked that the student evaluation forms be held.

One department head in the College of Education reported his faculty would go along with the boycott, but another education department head reported no faculty members had asked that the evaluations be withheld.

The head of one School of Fine Arts department reported that 90 per cent of the faculty who had turned in evaluations had asked that they be held at department level.

One School of Business department head said he had received one specific request that the evaluations be held up, while another business department head said he had received no requests.

The council voted in its last meeting to extend the request for a faculty boycott of the evaluations until the tenure and promotion committee had discussed several issues and some resolution had been worked out.

The primary controversy centers around the weighting to be given by tenure and promotion committee members to student evaluations in assessing a faculty member's teaching effectiveness.

The council has voted twice to retain a recommendation that the student evaluations count no more than 50 per cent of the total in assessing teaching effectiveness.

The tenure and promotion committee in earlier action compromised and ruled that department head evaluation of faculty would count 25 per cent in teaching effectiveness and student evaluations and other evaluations would count no more than 75 per cent.

In a vote a week ago, the council extended the controversy by adding to the contention that student evaluations should count no more than 50 per cent several other unresolved issues including the use of ranking by schools and colleges and the procedures to be used when rankings at school and university level disagree.

Shelly said he does not anticipate a meeting of the council this week, final examination week, to continue discussion of the issue.

the possibility of reopening the old Umbarger school and the need for more portable classrooms to take care of overcrowding in current schools and school facilities next year.

They will also examine possibilities for providing remodeling and refurbished and expanded facilities for Canyon High School without funds from the proposed $6 million bond issue. sue.

CHS remodeling was added to the total cost for two new schools to get the $6 million figure voted on Tuesday at the polls.

The acquisition of an elementary school site will also be discussed during open session.

Two sites have been offered the district in the north part of the district at no cost to the district. One site is in Estacado Estates subdivision in Southwest Amarillo and the other is east of the Canyon expressway about midway between Amarillo and Canyon.

Board members will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school administration building in Canyon.

Voting . . .

emerged in the state-wide voter registration picture Friday after a federal justice department ruling and a federal district court ruling, Mrs. Bruse expects local voters to be somewhat confused by the series of events which she has scheduled.

This week, if Spanish-language forms are available, she will mail applications for registration to each registered voter on the Randall County list. The forms are to be filled out and returned to her office and voter registration certificates are to be mailed out in February.

Current voter registration certificates are good until March 1, she said, and should serve any election called in the interim.

The justice department ruled Thursday tax collectors cannot purge their voter registration rolls of persons no longer registered unless the application form is returned to the tax office as undeliverable.

And, a federal district court downstate ruled Friday that the voter registration applications can be mailed out as soon as tax collectors are ready.

Mrs. Bruse will send out new applications every two years to those on her voter registration list.

New residents will have to seek an application from the tax office.

The new procedure does away with a law passed only a few years ago which allowed residents to register only once and continue as registered voters by voting in state elections.

Jazz Course Theme

"Perspectives in Jazz" will be offered during the spring semester by the West Texas State University Music Department.

Open to all students, the course will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday in the Fine Arts Building. George Eason, assistant professor of music will teach the three-hour credit course.

The course, which has never been offered by WTSU before, will focus on the historical aspects of jazz and the different styles beginning with the African background through ragtime and the present style with popular and rock connections, Eason explained.

Students will learn how to listen to jazz and will listen to recordings and performances by local jazz players.

Registration for this and other courses will be Jan. 16 and 17 in the WTSU Activities Center.

Merry Christmas For Valdez Family

A Merry Christmas is in store for the Brito Valdez family at Umbarger with the continued improvement of their 11-year old son, Ricky, who was the object of a special medical fund drive in the Canyon community in recent months.

Local residents responded to the plight of the family with numerous donations and fund-raising projects to raise medical funds for the youth for his continued treatment.

"We are happy to report that those funds raised are sufficiently caring for Ricky's current needs," reports Carmen Hernandez of the Canyon Community Family Services Organization, which handles the account for payment of doctor and hospital bills for the youth.

Since the conclusion of the main drive and Valdez Flea Market effort in September, several contributions have been added to the overall fund including a $200 donation from the CYO (Catholic Youth Organization) at Umbarger; a $165 donation from the Veteran's of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary; and a $100 contribution from joint efforts of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity and El Chicano Club at West Texas State University.

"The Valdez family's Christmas can thus be expected to be a happy occasion due to the community efforts of numerous individuals and clubs within the community," concluded Mrs. Hernandez.

Chemistry Professors Given Funds To Continue Research Proposals

Three West Texas State University chemistry professors have been awarded three-year renewals of research grants by the Robert A. Welch Foundation totaling $132,000.

Dr. Gene Carlisle, associate professor; Dr. James Woodyard, associate professor; and Dr. Joel Oliver, assistant professor, each received an amount for individual research projects.

Each grant provides funds for fellowship for the researchers, including undergraduate and graduate students, and for research equipment, chemicals, supplies and travel. Approximately $50,000 will be used for graduate and undergraduate fellowships, Dr. Oliver explained.

Dr. Carlisle plans to continue research in the field pf physical-organic chemistry studying magnetic properties of poly-metallic transition metal complexes, which are compounds with two or more metallic centers per molecule.

The purpose of the research is to find out how metallic centers interact. Magnetism will be measured over a wide range of temperature, he explained.

Since 1971, Dr. Carlisle has been awarded a total of $96,000 from the Welch Foundation for basic research in chemistry.

Since 1969, Dr. Woodyard has been awarded a total of $112,000 for his research in the basic chemistry of a new reaction intermediate. Purpose of the research is to develop techniques of making structural assignments for the new compounds, Dr. Woodyard explained.

Including the $45,000 awarded this year, Dr. Oliver has received a total of $83,000 from the foundation since 1972.

His research involves molecular structure determinations by single crystal X-ray diffraction techniques. Structures to be determined each contain a metal atom bonded in a complex fashion to an organic molecule, Dr. Oliver said.

Since 1966 the Robert A. Welch Foundation of Houston has awarded the chemists approximately $600,000 for basic research. These funds have made possible over 100 publications in international chemical journals and numerous other presentations at professional meetings on local, regional and international levels.

Sunderman's Buy Grocery

Max and Kirby Sunderman are new owners of the Cowboy Grocery, a convenience-type food store on U.S. 60.

They will also own and operate a service station and small motel along with the grocery store.

Max Sunderman, a 1967 graduate of Canyon High School and a 1973 graduate of West Texas State University, said the store will be open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

The Sundermans were reared in Canyon. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Sunderman of Canyon.

Grad Student Inducted

West Texas State University graduate student Margaret F. Custred has been initiated into Psi Chi, the National Honor Society in Psychology, with active membership in the WTSU chapter.

Steve Stedje, a descendant of a Norwegian settler at the Oslo Community, studies a population origin map of Texas that is part of the Norwegian immigration display at the WTSU Cornette Library. Stedje is from Gruver.

Norwegian Exhibit Up In University Museum

No nation except Ireland has had a greater percentage of its population immigrate to America than Norway.

A display commemorating the 150th anniversary of Norwegian immigration to America and the settling of the Oslo Community in the Panhandle will be in the West Texas State University Cornette Library until the end of December.

Although the Norwegians began coming to America in 1825, they did not reach the Texas Panhandle until 1907 through the efforts of Anders L. Mordt and his land company. Mordt advertised in numerous Norwegian language newspapers for settlers to come, to the "new Oslo on the Plains." In anticipation, the "Oslo Poster," a Norwegian language newspaper, began publication in 1910 in Guymon, Okla.

The failure of the railroad to come near the fledgling settlement killed all plans, but not before 100 Norwegians had put down their roots in the small community.

The display contains old photographs, newspaper advertisements, an advertising booklet on the land, and such items as a pipe, Norwegian egg cup and a Krum Kager iron and cookbook which have been supplied by the descendants of the settlers. Lending the items are Genevieve Olsen Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stavlo.

The exhibit was prepared by Dr. Peter Petersen, WTSU associate professor of history, who is currently writing a history of the Oslo Community and the Mordt Land Company.

Canyon Library In Area System

Canyon Public Library was among seventeen libraries in a 25-county area served by the Texas Panhandle Library System which qualified for system membership for the fiscal year which began September 1.

The 17 area libraries were among 247 libraries which were qualified for membership in ten Texas systems for a total of 86 percent of all Texans being served by the system member libraries.

As members, the libraries are participating in activities to improve public library service in the region. The regional systems are authorized under provisions of the Texas Library Systems Act and are supported by funds administered by the Texas State Library. In order to qualify for system activities, libraries must meet certain criteria concerning number of volumes, amount of local per capita support and staff.

Service Pending For Mrs. Rose

Mrs. Edith Rose, 96, of 2419 15th Avenue, died Saturday morning at Palo Duro Hospital here.

Funeral services are pending with Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Rose was born Oct. 2, 1879 in Holden, Mo., and moved to Canyon from Missouri in 1918. She had been a member of Canyon First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include a son, Kelly Rose of 1000 7th Avenue; a daughter, Mrs. Arline Schramm of 2419 15th Avenue; and a sister, Mrs. J.C. Parks of Kansas City, Mo.

Christmas Ball Planned Dec. 27

An annual Cowboy Christmas Ball has been planned by the Happy Rodeo Association for Saturday evening, Dec. 27, at the Happy Jaycee Hall.

The holiday dance will be $15 per couple and includes a calf fry supper to begin at 7 p.m. with dancing and music by Tiny Lynn's band to begin at 9:30 p.m.

Tickets are currently available from all Happy Rodeo Association members and must be purchased in advance. No tickets will be available at the door.

Prof. Writes Article

The Texas Outlook, the publication of the Texas State Teachers Association, published an article in its December edition by Dr. W.M. (Fred) Stoker, head department of school services, West Texas State University.

The article entitled, "West Texan Visits British Open Schools," described a research project to evaluate selected individualized elementary schools in England.

Dr. Stoker has received a research grant to extend this study to Scotland. He and his wife Betty, a second grade teacher in Rex Reeves Elementary School in Canyon, will study and visit schools in Scotland during June of 1976.

Increased Fees For P.O. Service

Planned increases in fees for special services will be implemented on Saturday, Jan. 3, Postmaster Lee Roy Moreland has announced.

The increases are necessary to cover the rising cost of providing the services, he said.

Fees affected include those for such specialized services as money orders, registry and insurance, address correction and special delivery.

The Postal Service also plans a general rate increase implementing proposed rates on a temporary basis on Dec. 28, but international mail rates will not increase until Jan. 3.

New fee schedules are available at the Canyon Post Office.

The Kitchen Sink

BY SUSAN WILSON

Disconnected thoughts late at night, disconnected because Rebecca fitfully sleeps with a cold, Julie has been scared out of her wits because D'Arcy contends there's a witch at the window, and D'Arcy is crying because I spanked her for scaring Julie.

. . . Why is it small children learn how to untie shoes years before they learn how to tie them? And, why, when they do learn to tie do they forget how to untie shoelaces?

. . . There would be a lot less waste at birthday parties if mommies just filled the cupcake papers with icing and didn't worry with cake.

. . . Kids catch on to traditions real quick. One day you 'treat' them to something special, like a popsicle, after their nap and the next day you hear "Where's our popsicle? We ALWAYS have a popsicle after our nap."

. . . Sales people are always asking if I'm the lady of the house. I think they need a guide for determining who is the Lady of the House. They could ask, for example: Are you the only one at this residence who refills the ice trays? Are you the only one at this residence who knows where the butter dish is? Are you the only one at this residence who changes the toilet paper roll? If the answers to all the above is yes, then you are definitely the Lady of the House.

. . . It's time for some new party clothes. Last time we went out my sitter exclaimed, "Oh, Mrs. Wilson, I've ALWAYS thought you looked good in that."

. . . Children learn early how to scapegoat, but a two-year-old can't really get the hang of it. Julie, who sleeps alone, came in the other morning after awakening and her panties were wet. "Somebody wet in my bed," she complained. "Who could it have been?" I asked innocently. "D'Arcy, probably," she responded without a change in expression.

. . . If you give a child a handful of those small candy decoration goodies, a cup of icing and a small gingerbread house, and say "Now, why don't you decorate that house for grandma?" you'll end up with no gingerbread house, no small candy goodies and a ruined appetite.

. . . A friend and I were discussing the up and coming class reunion. She's a little worried she has put on some weight in the last 10 years since graduation. But, when people ask what she's been doing, Anne can say she has her master's degree, she's an interior designer with her own business, she's working on a book, etc., etc., When they ask me, I can say "Well, I stayed skinny."

. . . My friend's almost 13-year-old son brought home a white rat for a science project. "A rat," she told me. "A rat and junior high dances all in one week. I don't think I can take it!"

Mitchell Speaker at Annual Meet

Dr. Albert Mitchell, dean of the West Texas State University School of Business, was to speak to the Arizona Tax Institute at Tempe, Friday.

He spoke on "Accountant's Responsibilities in Tax Practice" to the 17th annual meeting at Arizona State University.

Lloyd, Kelson, Lozano Take Top Buff Awards

Tight end Jeff Lloyd, strong safety Mishael Kelson, and weak safety Mike Lozano were named recipients of the top awards at the West Texas State University Touchdown Club football banquet Wednesday night at the Ramada Inn.

Lloyd, one of the most versatile performers ever at WT, was named the team's top offensive player; Kelson, an honorable mention all-American, was named the top defensive player; and Lozano, the diminuative senior from Amarillo, won the James P. Cornette Award. The selections were made by the votes of the 1975 Buffalo grid team.

Also named as award winners were Jim Bob Brown as the winner of the Spirit Award, and Lloyd, Kelson, Lozano, defensive end John Ayers, and linebacker Jeff Nunn as the 1975 team captains.

Lloyd was named to All-Missouri Valley Conference teams at both tight end and offensive tackle. The 6-6, 240-pound senior led the Buffs with nine pass receptions for 161 yards and four touchdowns.

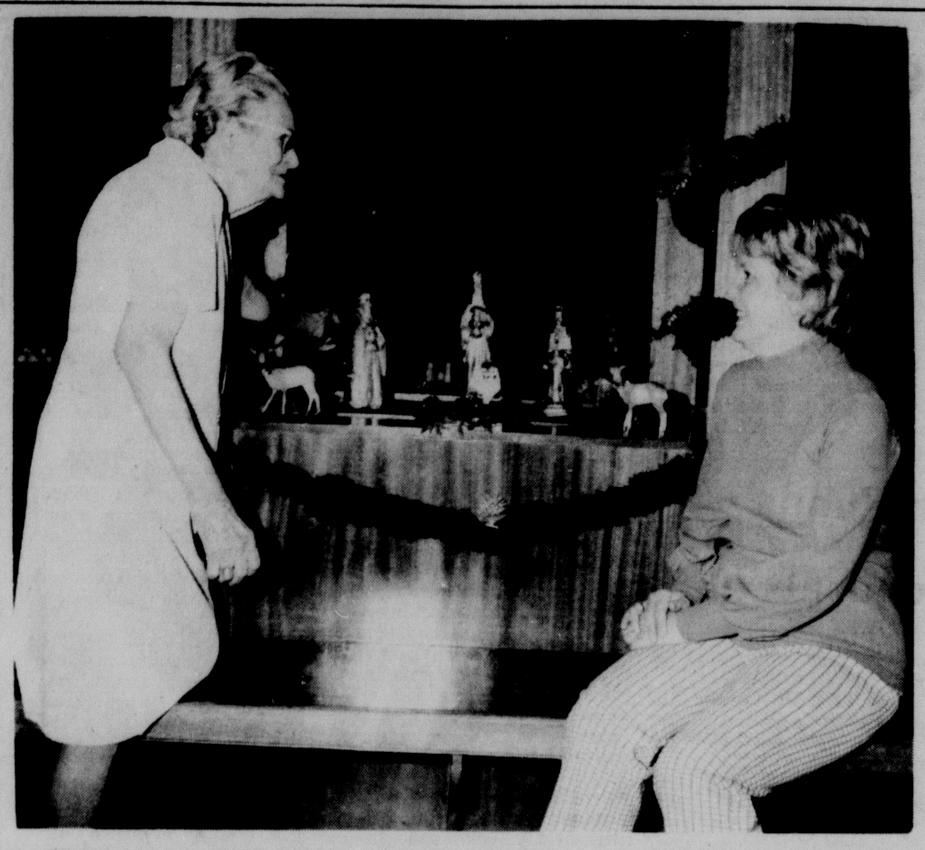

Kelson led WT in interceptions with five for 148 yards, and also won All-MVC honors on both the Associated Press and United Press International listings. Kelson set a new MVC record with his 136 interception return yards against Northeast Louisiana.

Lozano won the Cornette Award, the reissuance of the award Dr. Cornette started in 1955 when he was president of West Texas State. Its criteria is for citizenship, leadership, cooperation, and improvement of ability. Lozano won second team all-MVC honors this year, tying Kelson for the team lead in interceptions with five for 59 yards.

Brown, a 5-10, 220-pound junior from Stratford, earned the first Spirit Award for his general attitude, teamwork, and desire.

Also announced at the banquet was the naming of sophomore halfback Anthony Dogan as the MVC's Newcomer of the Year. Dogan led the Buffs in rushing with 669 yards on 99 carries, scoring seven touchdowns.

Lloyd, Nunn, Ayers, Kelson, and offensive tackle John Jacobi were also cited for being named to all-conference teams. Also cited were player of the week award winners Robert Mayberry (Louisville), defensive back Bryan Carr (Drake), Nunn (Wichita State), Kelson (Northeast Louisiana), and Ayers (Louisville), as selected by the MVC staff.

Estelle Blount, resident of the LaCasa Canyon Nursing Home, and Stelcie Williams, seated, recreation director for the home, inspect a special holiday scene created by volunteer "Friends" of the home in early December.

R.B. Anthony Dogan Newcomer-of-the- Year

The "Sugar Land Express" worked up a full head of steam by mid-season and ran wild for 503 yards over a give game span to give new life to the West Texas State football team.

Anthony Dogan, a 5-10, 195-pound running back from Sugar Land, Texas, finished the year with 669 yards on 99 carries and has been voted Missouri Valley Conference Newcomer-of-the-year.

The 1975 season began slowly for the Buffaloes and a parallel might be drawn with Dogan, as he gained only 31 yards in the opener, sat out the second game with an injury and had only six yards in the third outing. Both Dogan and WTSU started to round into form following the Utah State Game.

Dogan, a sophomore, combined power and speed to plow through Drake for 95 yards, then he racked up 143 yards on only 12 carries against Northeast Louisiana, had 104 at the expense of McNeese and 121 against Louisville.

The Buffalo runner had a per-carry average of 6.7 yards, the best of the top ten rushers in the conference. He finished third in the Valley in rushing with a game average of 66.9 yards.

The entire West Texas State backfield returns for the 1976 season. In addition to Dogan, there is Melvin Robinson, the Valley's number six rusher with 538 yards, and Robert Mayberry who finished seventh with 508 to go along with quarterback Tully Blanchard's 345 yards. That's a combined amount of 2060 yards for the WTSU wishbone which had the best rushing average in the conference (265.1).

A hint of what could be expected from Dogan was given last spring when he led the varsity in rushing in the varsity-alumni game with 72 yards despite playing with a leg injury.

If the "Sugar Land Express" can stay on track next year, Anthony Dogan is expected to challenge Drake's Jim Herndon for the league rushing title.

Two Victories For CJHS Boys

Canyon's ninth grade boys' white team pushed their record to 7-1 for the year in play last week, beating Borger 72-46 and downing Highland Park 71-53.

Topping the scoring for Canyon in the Borger game was Steve Schmidt with 16 points. He was backed up by Eddy Clement with 15.

Leading rebounder and spark plug for the game was Keith Melton, who came off the bench to grab 25 rebounds, block three shots and score 10 points.

The team is averaging a little more than 60 points a game, Coach Lewis Tversky said.

Against Highland Park, Larry Whitson scored 21 points with Clement dumping in 16.

Whitson hit 12 of his 21 total in the first quarter on 25 foot jump shots, Tversky said.

The coach credited a Whitson-Schmidt team with the fast breaks that broke the game open.

Coaches Bobby Byrd and Tversky both praised their team for consistency in scoring and defense, but said the most important factor is that they are playing together as a team.

"We both feel that it's our bench strength coming through for us, enabling us to have a successful year at this point," Tversky said. "We are getting outstanding play from Tracy Byrd, Ron Eller, Mote Bell and especially Mike Moore."

"Two other players that keep us in the game with their steady play and rebounding are Eddy Clement, who is averaging 14 points a game, and Kevin Elders, who is averaging 11 points a game and 12 rebounds. Kevin and Eddy are our most consistent ball players," Tversky said.

The CJHS ninth graders play Amarillo Christian Monday at the high school gym and then open district play in Hereford Thursday against La Plata.

'Texas' Try-Outs Scheduled

Actors, singers and dancers will be auditioning for the cast of "TEXAS" musical outdoor drama beginning January 17 with auditions at the Branding Iron Theatre of West Texas State University.

Auditions will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:30 to 4 p.m. with an audition for dancers beginning at 5 p.m.

Salaried positions ranging from $500 to $1500 are available for the 11th season of the outdoor drama and are determined by training and experience. The minimum age considered for roles is 18 years and those selected will report for first rehearsals on May 23.

Performance dates for the 11th season are June 16-August 21. Performances are presented Monday through Saturday evenings with a special performance scheduled on July 4th.

Other audition dates scheduled are January 18 at Lubbock in the University Theatre at Texas Tech University; February 29 in Oklahoma City for the Thrust Theatre at the Oklahoma Theatre Center; and March 6 at Dallas, Texas at El Centro College. No dance try-outs are scheduled at either Dallas or Oklahoma City.

Expansion Project Begins At St. Ann's

A $120,000 construction project for St. Ann's Catholic Church in Canyon is presently underway with an expected completion date of Easter Sunday.

The construction project includes a new Parish Social Hall and Educational Center being built just east of the present buildings of St. Ann's.

The assembly hall, conference-library room, classrooms, kitchen and nursery will have 6,440 square feet of floor space with masonry and glass walls and a pre-engineered roof when completed. An overhang is also planned to cover the walks on the West and North sides of the building.

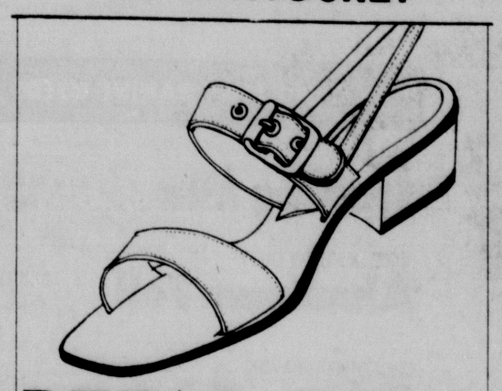

General contractor for the project is the Hallmark Builders of Amarillo.

Additional construction includes a new 750 square foot carport and storage area for the rectory and an extension of the parking area by about 1,000 square feet.

A holiday decoration on the courthouse square in Canyon.

BE TO ELECTRIC HEAT SWITCHED

Two hundred years ago, the witch hunters would have burned us at the stake for even daring to dream of a clean, practical means of heating our homes like electric heat. Fortunately, things have changed since then and today you can choose a heating system that is not only clean and efficient, but also economical and environmentally sound. You don't even have to look for a witch to give you a great deal like this one. Call the electric company . . . we'll show you how easy it is to BESWITCHED to real comfort home heating that's as modern tomorrow as it is today.

ASK ABOUT THE HEAT PUMP

IT'S NOT MAGIC...IT JUST ACTS THAT WAY

You'll think it's magic when you see what the heat pump does, but it's not at all. It probably will seem quite impossible that one unit can provide clean, efficient electric heating and cooling with only one unit, one thermostat setting. The important thing to remember is the heat pump is today's answer to improving your lifestyle — economically and efficiently. Sound like magic? Not at all.

ENERGY EFFICIENCY ALLOWANCE

We, at Southwestern, are interested in your getting the most for your energy dollar. That's why we're offering an Energy Efficiency insulation allowance to our customers in existing homes who install electric comfort heating. Ask us about it.

THRIFTWAY

SPECIALS GOOD December 15-20 1975

Christmas is for everyone, even mice, and Debra Downing and Julie Dolle from Mrs. Janice Cranmer's sixth grade join the Merry Christ-mouse in season's greetings.

This Santa outside the physical education department at Rex Reeves is really loaded down. Maybe Chris Clark from Mrs. Anna Tharel's fifth grade is wondering if the old boy will hold up until Christmas.

Senior Citizens Want Members

Prospective new members can join the Canyon Senior Citizens Association at boothes set up next Wednesday at Cooper's Thriftway and Taylor and Sons grocery.

The association is sponsoring a membership drive to include all persons 55 years or older. According to the current voter registration list, there are 5,544 senior citizens registered in Randall County.

A coupon for new members is included in this issue of The Sunday News.

The Association is presently remodeling a former church building to be used as a center for daily activities and special programs.

Pets Wait For Homes

Her sister found a home last week, but this little female part dachshund-part chihuahua puppy is still waiting for someone to adopt her from the city pound operated by Dr. J.L. Markham. A small, adult female dog is looking for a home also.

Persons interested in adopting a pet can call Dr. Markham's veterinary clinic at 655-2128 during regular hours. There is a nominal adoption fee charged to cover boarding costs.

WTSU Will Offer Crises and the Movies

"Personal Crises and the Movies" will be offered during the spring semester by the West Texas State University College of Arts and Sciences.

For two hours of credit, the course will be offered Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 102 of the WTSU Science Center.

"The course is aimed at showing human and social behavior depicted in the movies and to give the student insight into his own and others behavior," explained Dr. Theodore Freidell, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Seven professors will lecture on seven different movies. Each professor will take approximately two class periods. The movie will be shown one week and discussed the following week.

Movies and professors include "Shane" with Dr. Russell Sparling, assistant professor of English; "Dr. Strangelove," Dr. Vaughn Nelson, associate professor and head of physics; and "All the King's Men," Dr. Freidell.

Others are "To Kill a Mockingbird," Richard Jackson, assistant professor of political science; "Red Sky at Morning," Dr. Thomas Cannon, associate professor of psychology; "Grapes of Wrath," Dr. Peter Petersen, associate professor of history; and "East of Eden," Dr. Richard Moseley, associate professor of English.

Movies were selected that have novels with them, Dr. Freidell said. Students will be required to read a minimum of two of the novels.

For the tests, students will compare and contrast the film and the novel. Before each film showing, the professor will point out themes in the movie which will be discussed the following week.

Registration for this and other WTSU courses will be Jan. 16 and 17 at the WT Activities Center. For more information telephone the registrar at 656-3331.

Course cards for "Personal Crises and the Movies" will be available at the political science table at registration.

Bicentennial Lecture Offered Spring Semester

"Bicentennial Lecture Series" will be offered during the spring semester by the West Texas State University College of Arts and Sciences.

For one hour credit, the course will be offered from 7 to 7:50 p.m. Wednesday in Room 102 of the WTSU Science Center.

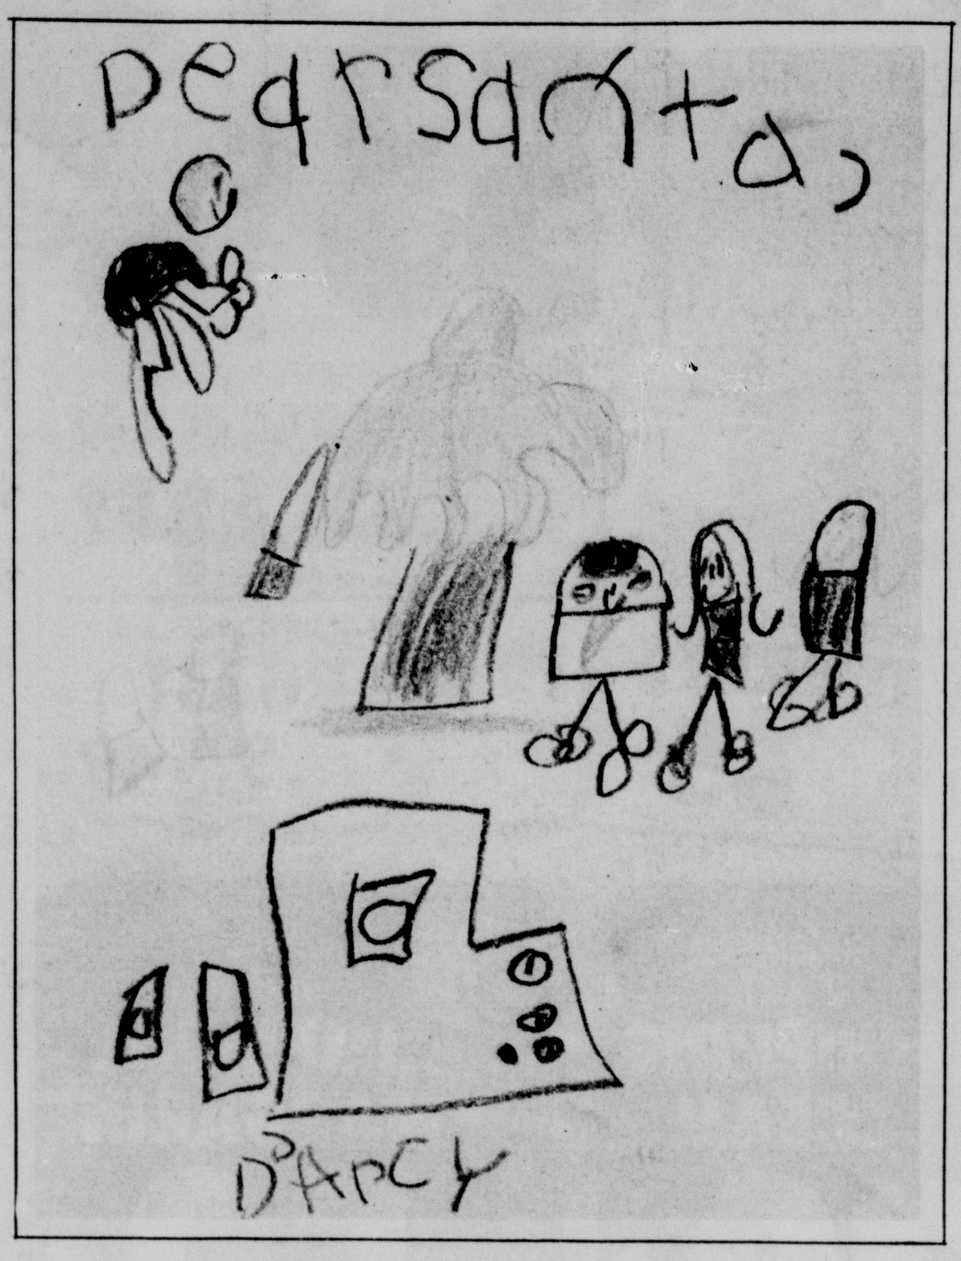

Eleven lectures will be delivered by eleven different faculty members.

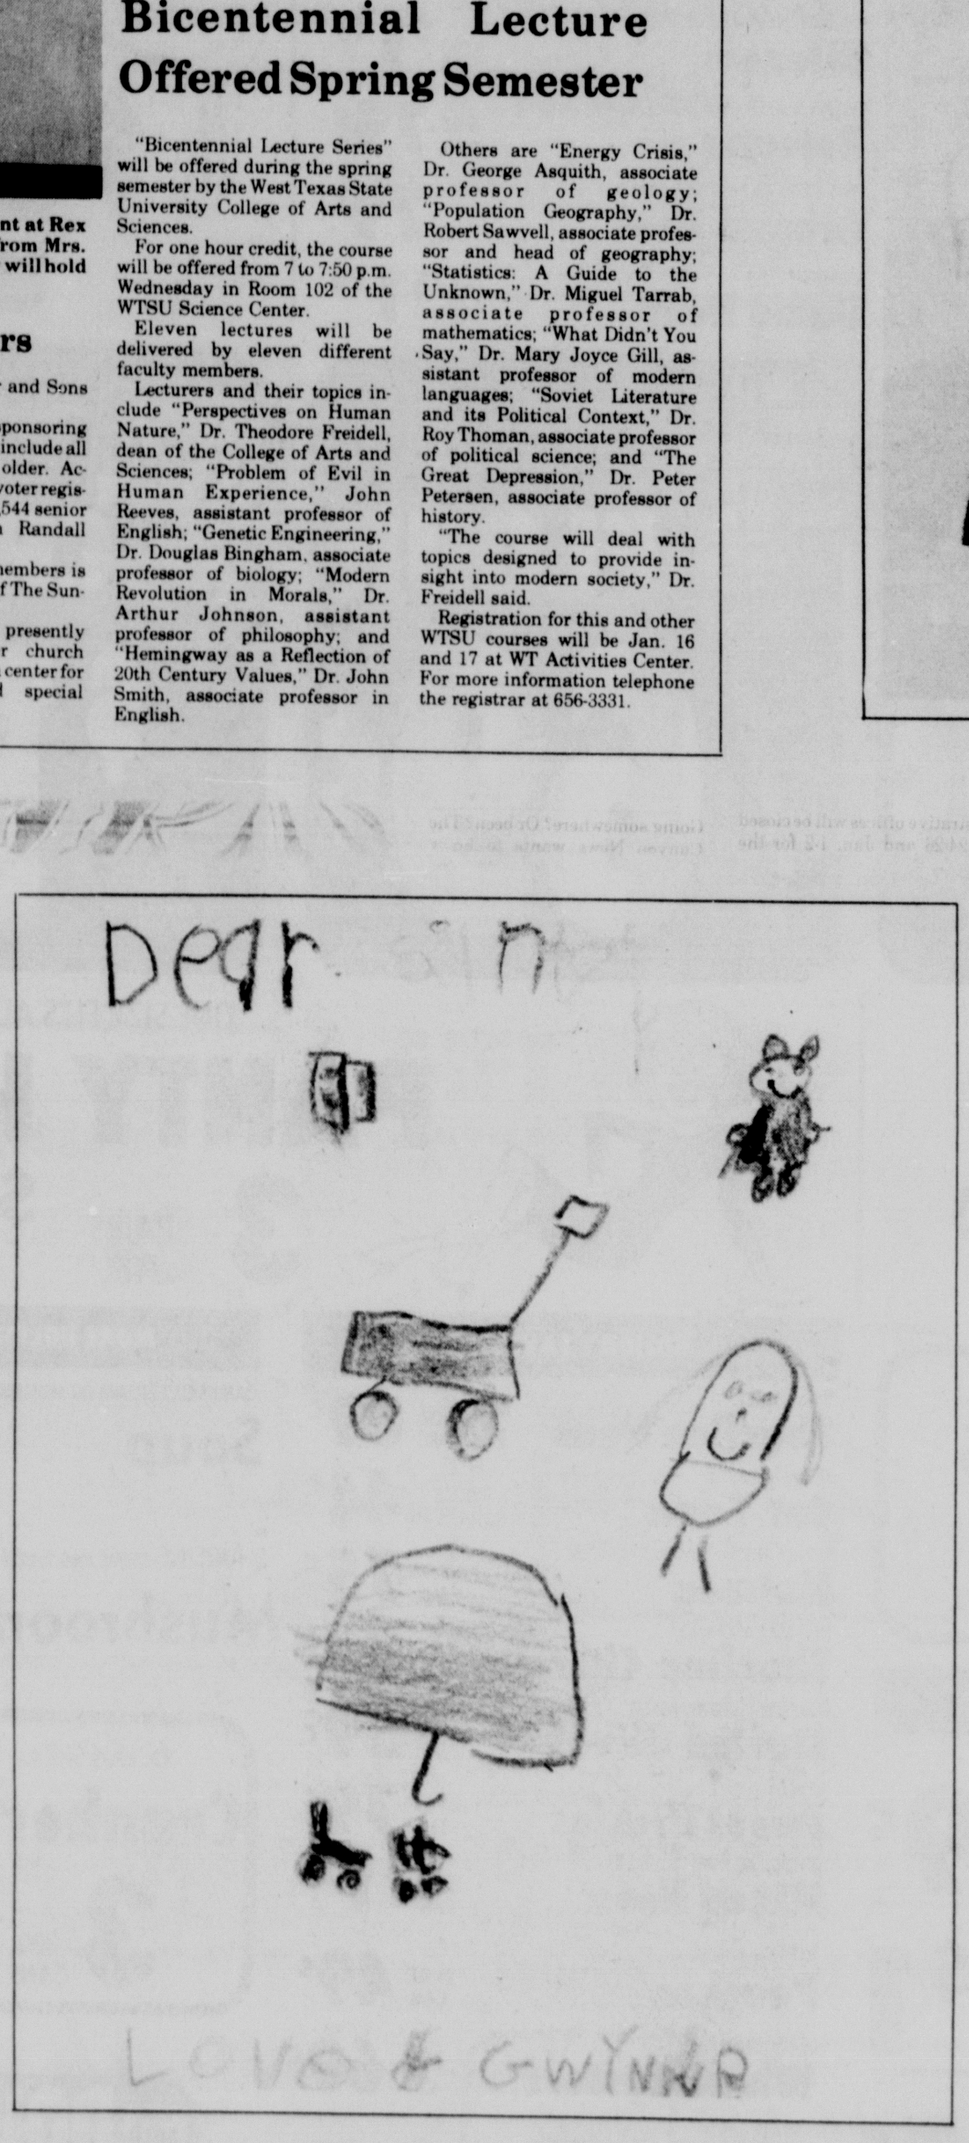

Lecturers and their topics include "Perspectives on Human Nature," Dr. Theodore Freidell, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; "Problem of Evil in Human Experience," John Reeves, assistant professor of English; "Genetic Engineering," Dr. Douglas Bingham, associate professor of biology; "Modern Revolution in Morals," Dr. Arthur Johnson, assistant professor of philosophy; and "Hemingway as a Reflection of 20th Century Values," Dr. John Smith, associate professor in English.

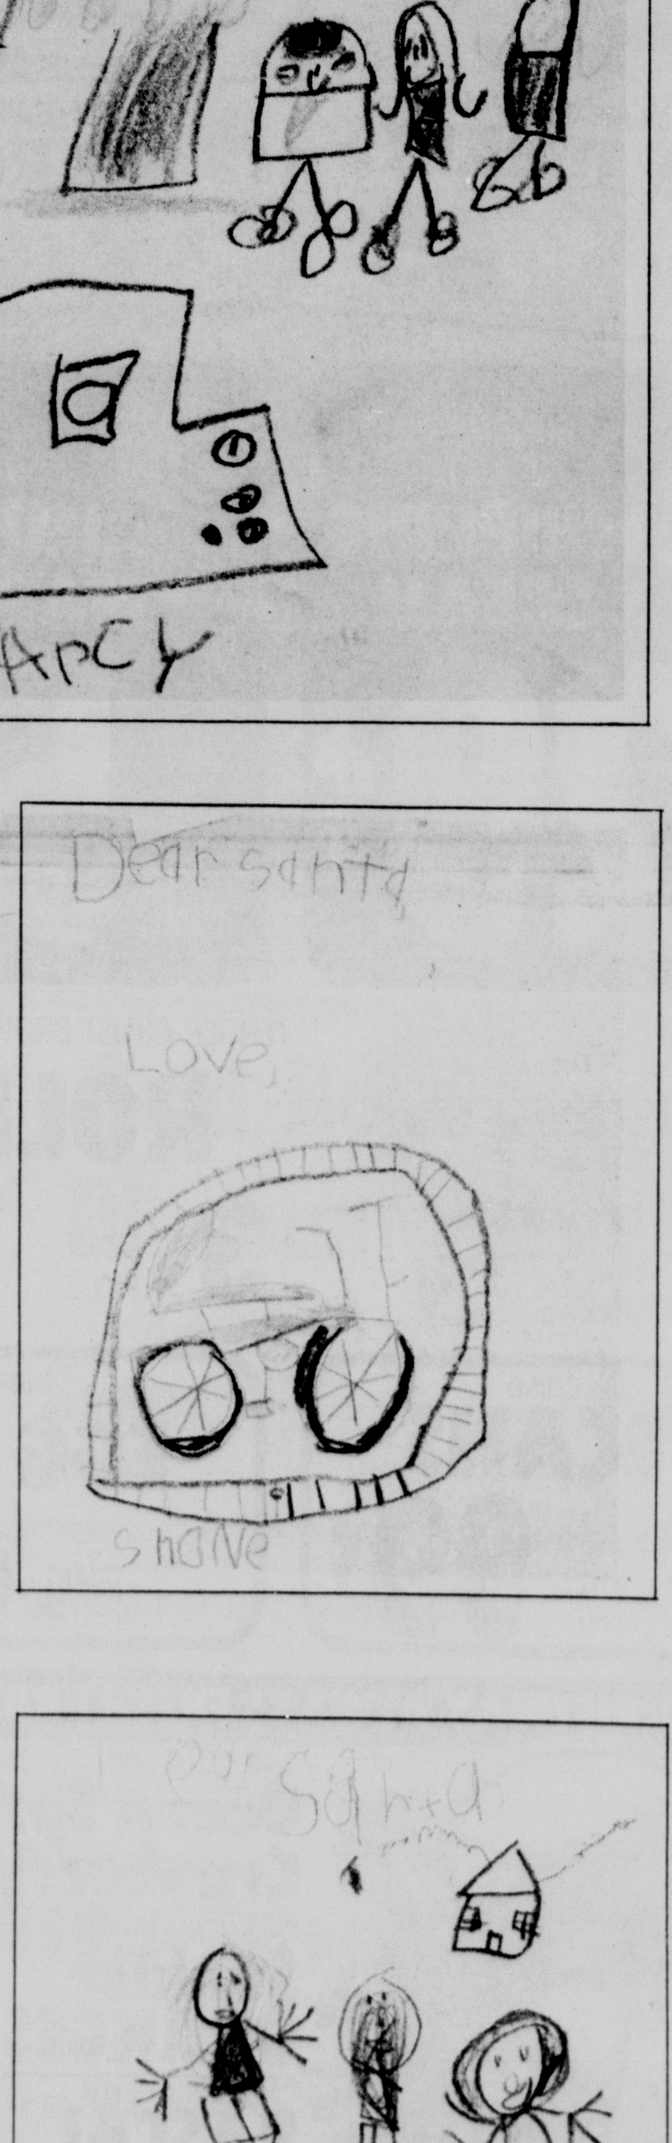

Others are "Energy Crisis," Dr. George Asquith, associate professor of geology; "Population Geography," Dr. Robert Sawvell, associate professor and head of geography; "Statistics: A Guide to the Unknown," Dr. Miguel Tarrab, associate professor of mathematics; "What Didn't You Say," Dr. Mary Joyce Gill, assistant professor of modern languages; "Soviet Literature and its Political Context," Dr. Roy Thoman, associate professor of political science; and "The Great Depression," Dr. Peter Petersen, associate professor of history.

"The course will deal with topics designed to provide insight into modern society," Dr. Freidell said.

Registration for this and other WTSU courses will be Jan. 16 and 17 at WT Activities Center. For more information telephone the registrar at 656-3331.

Canyon Dump May Get Amarillo Load

Amarillo's landfill changes have Canyon city manager Glen Metcalf looking at ways to keep the city's public dump from being buried by the onslaught of new users he expects after the first of the year.

"After Amarillo closes their old landfill and reopens the new one, we're going to get a tremendous flow of users that we've never had before," Metcalf said.

The location of the new Amarillo site, out Highway 66 near Bushland, will increase the usage at the Canyon dump, he said.

But fees will be a factor, too. In a memorandum to be presented to Canyon commissioners Monday night, Metcalf said that Amarillo has proposed a rate increase and recommended that Canyon change its rate structure to offset the anticipated increased usage.

Presently, Canyon charges a minimum dumping fee of 50 cents for pickups or vehicles weighing less than one ton and $1.50 for all other vehicles.

The proposed rates for Amarillo are $1.80 minimum for vehicles having a capacity of two cubic yards or less; $7.05 for vehicles between two and six cubic yards; $10.50 for vehicles of six to 12 cubic yards; $15 for vehicles dumping between 12 and 30 cubic yards and $20 a load for larger vehicles. Amarillo proposes to charge $10 to dump auto bodies, large tanks, concrete bins and similar items.

Metcalf said the area for public dumping is filling rapidly.

"We're going to have to look for some other place to go before too long," he said Thursday.

He estimated in his memorandum that the space requirements for the public dumping area are adequate for only the next three to five years.

Canyon maintains two separate areas for public dumping and city trash disposal. The landfill used by the city sanitation department is adequate for the next 20-25 years, Metcalf estimated.

Metcalf said usage at the public area has increased about 30 per cent each year.

And already two major industries in Randall County have contacted him about using the Canyon landfill, Metcalf wrote. He did not identify the industries in his memorandum.

"Existing ordinances would permit anyone to utilize the landfill as long as they pay the permit fees," Metcalf wrote.

Commercial and industrial users will greatly increase the burden on the public area, he said.

Metcalf recommended that the commissioners up the dumping fees and exempt city residents dumping trash or garbage from his own home.

He also suggested that if the city wants to restrict any large producer of trash from using the landfill that a formula be worked out such as prohibiting vehicles larger than 12 cubic yards.

Third Go-Round Set On Costs

For the third time, the agenda for the city commissioners meeting Monday includes a review of the city policy of participating in the cost of developing new housing by paving street intersections and sharing sewer lift costs.

The issue was tabled at the last meetings after considerable discussion between the commissioners and local builders. A.W. Lair, who is developing Hunsley Hills, told the board at the first meeting that a decision by the city to drop city participation could cancel or postpone a half-million dollar project he is set to begin this month.

Each meeting, the commissioners have voted to table the matter to obtain more information.

At the last meeting, Lair and Jack Taylor, another Canyon builder, presented a survey of eight Panhandle cities, seven of which they told the commissioners did participate in development costs.

At the request of Commissioner Jim Christopher, city manager Glen Metcalf surveyed other cities and included in a memorandum the results in which four of six nearby cities did not participate in sewer lift costs. Three cities, Metcalf said, did not participate in street paving.

Amarillo is phasing out of all participation by Jan. 1, 1977, Metcalf said.

Also on the agenda is an executive session, at which the public is excluded, to discuss reappointment of several city boards.

Two terms, now being served by Jack Jones and Terry Pitman, are expiring on the Canyon Housing Authority and the term of J.B. Roberts is expiring on the library board.

On the electrical board, the terms of Cecil O'Donald, Harold Hagemeier and Scott Downing are expiring.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of the landfill, an ordinance lowering the speed limits on 23rd Street, final payment on the civic complex, consideration of preliminary plats for a Hunsley addition and Westgate addition beyond Holly Lane. A public hearing on a rezoning of part of Hunsley Hills for townhouses will also be considered.

The commissioners will meet at 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

City Officials To Region Meet

Canyon city officials will attend a Region II Texas Municipal League meeting in Tulia on Jan. 15.

Kenneth White, well-known Tulia artist, will be the guest speaker.

Canyon Mayor Manly Bryan is regional TML president.

Eagle Boosters To Meet Monday

Canyon Eagle Booster Club has scheduled a meeting for Monday night, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m. in the AU room of the high school with all supporters of the school's athletic teams invited to join the group.

The CHS boys and girls basketball teams will receive season backing from the group of supporters. Posters for the basketball teams are now ready for distribution, according to Jim Ward, Booster Club president.

The Booster Club also has small football pictures in color which are yet to be picked up and the 16 x 20 black and white football poster pictures are selling for $3.

Booster club jackets are also still available and may be purchased by Phillip Langen of that committee.

Schools Close Early Dec. 19

Canyon Public Schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 19, for the Christmas-New Year's holiday period.

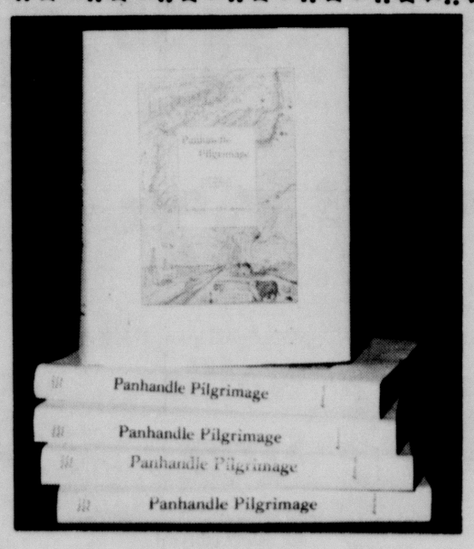

Students will be on holiday until the regular class times the morning of January 5, 1976.

The school system's administrative offices will be closed Dec. 24-26 and Jan. 1-2 for the holiday. The tax offices will be closed Dec. 24-25 and Jan. 1-2. Both the tax office and the administrative offices will be open other days during the holiday period, except for the weekends.

AFTER A NEAR asphyxiation last weekend, from a faulty heater, Grady Scott and family are all doing fine now. Mrs. Scott and their son, David, were treated overnight at the Palo Duro Hospital but Mr. Scott was hospitalized for several days at the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo. He came home Wednesday and is now back at his job with the Texas Highway Department here.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PRINCIPALS Bob Parks and Luther Lawless recently attended the annual meeting of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association, held in Houston.

In addition to smaller group discussions, they heard Dr. Harold Chain of Indiana discuss preparation for changes expected in the 21st century and California teacher Harry Wong give ideas on motivating the educationally uninvolved.

REBECCA MOORE (MRS. Russell Moore) is trying to catch up on her studies after several weeks of visiting and being visited.

Capt. and Mrs. Moore flew recently to New Orleans, where Capt. Moore attended an ROTC Scabbard and Blade convention. Two WTSU cadets, Dean Garrison and Jim St. John, also drove down for the meeting.

While the men were attending to business, Rebecca took tours around New Orleans. The Moores stayed at a hotel located in the old French Quarter and enjoyed dinner at Brennan's, a visit to Pat O'Brians, and all the sights along Bourbon Street. On a trip to the riverfront, they watched a paddle-wheeler, the Natchez, steam along the Mississippi and they got a view of modern New Orleans from the Top of the Mart.

Flying home, the Moore's changed planes in Dallas and were met at the airport by Mrs. Moore's brother, Ed Phillips and his wife, Karen.

Back home for a few days and then the Moores were off for the Thanksgiving holidays to grandmother's house in El Paso for a visit and to collect their two youngsters. Rebecca's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, had been babysitting for them while they took their working vacation to New Orleans.

As soon as they got back to Canyon, Capt. Moore's parents, Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Corbitt R. Moore, came from California for a pre-Christmas visit. While they were here, Lt. Col. Moore attended the War College seminar held at the university recently.

SEVERAL GIRL SCOUTS have undertaken the ambitious requirements for "God and Community" badges. The awards take nearly a year to complete and require 90 hours of service to each girl's church.

Working on the badges are Cadettes in Troop 54 and two Senior Scouts in Troop 95.

Mrs. Wallace Johnston, troop leader, is very proud of her girls. "It's been a long time since any Canyon Scouts attempted the 'God and Community'," she said. The 90 hours of work are done, in addition to other Scout work, in close coordination with the church pastor, she said. "It's not just make-work," she said. "They do things that are needed."

Most of the girls are working within the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Jim Hancock and two are working at University Church of Christ with the Rev. Bob Crass.

MR. AND MRS. Art Roberts are home from a recent trip to Port Aransas, where they relaxed and did some fishing. While they were there, the temperatures ranged from bikini weather to insulation weather. One night, eight inches of rain fell, which, Mrs. Roberts reports, is memorable if you are sitting inside a camper-trailer listening to it.

County To Hear Grant Request

Randall County commissioners Monday will consider a request by Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod to hire a full-time investigator for his office, with temporary pay to come from a federal grant.

Sherrod has met with commissioners before to discuss the hiring of an investigator, to follow-up on criminal complaints for the office.

Another item set for Monday's agenda will be discussion of a contract with Canyon Ambulance Service. Commissioner Paul Lindsey has asked that the service provide a lien on all its equipment as collateral for a loan of about $6000 from the county, the City of Canyon and the South Randall County Hospital District.

Workman's compensation insurance, which was discussed last week by commissioners, is another item on the agenda. Buck Douglas, executive director of the Texas Association of Counties, and George Blackwell, local insurance agent, are to present comparative figures on compensation plans.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax collector, is to discuss salaries for personnel in her office.

The possibility of employing an assistant county agricultural agent will also be discussed by commissioners.

Commissioners have indicated they will view favorably Sherrod's request for an investigator. Application for the federal grant for the funds is to be submitted after the first of the year.

Commissioners meet at 1 p.m. Monday in the commissioners courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

Police Get Move

Canyon's police department is moving Monday to offices in the new civic complex, Police Chief Al Stewart announced.

New telephone numbers will be in effect Monday for both the police department and municipal court.

The new police department number is 655-7796.

Municipal court telephone is 655-9941. This is the first time the court, which is located within the police complex, has had a separate number.

Crash Slightly Injures Coed

A university student was slightly injured Friday in a collision near campus.

Brenda Joyce Belcher of Amarillo was taken to Palo Duro Hospital and examined after her car was struck by an auto driven by another student, Louis William Lloyd of 2611 6th Ave. No. 10.

According to Police Sgt. Werner Talley, several trucks parked along 26th Street obstructed the drivers' vision at the intersection of 26th and 3rd Avenue. Lloyd hit the Belcher vehicle as it was turning left from 3rd onto 26th Street.

The small car driven by Brenda Belcher received minor damage while damages to Lloyd's larger car were more serious, Talley said. No charges were filed.

'Christmas Story' Highlights Meet

"A Christmas Story" was the theme for the holiday meeting of the Woman's Book Club of Canyon Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 10, at the home of Mrs. K.E. Frieze.

The program was presented by Mrs. Marjore Brewer as she recounted a true story of a special Christmas party given in the White House in 1835 under the Presidency of Andrew (Stonewall) Jackson. The party was given by the President's six-year-old grandniece, Mary Donelson, who lived in the White House.

Mrs. Brewer described the life of Andrew Jackson and showed him to be a kindhearted and religious man as well as a strict military leader. His wife, Rachel, died before he moved into the White House and Jackson took with him as companions and helpers the family of his late wife's nephew. The nephew, Andrew Jackson Donelson, and his wife, Mildred, and their daughter, Mary, occupied the White House with the President during his term with Mildred performing the duties of first lady.

Preceding the program, the members answered roll call and held a brief business discussion with Mrs. Lon Fanning, president, in charge. A caroling program, gift exchange and refreshments were included in the afternoon.

Co-hostesses assisting Mrs. Frieze with the occasion were Mrs. Charles Harter, Mrs. Lewis B. Hinders, Mrs. Rose Kinzer and Mrs. A.R. Jacob.

Next meeting of the club will be January 14 in the Pathfinder's Classroom of the First United Methodist Church.

Les Amies Juniorettes To Visit At Girlstown

The Les Amies Juniorette Club for high school girls in federated clubwork will visit with the Girlstown residents at Borger Monday afternoon, Dec. 15.

The group of local high school girls will be leaving from the front parking lot of Canyon High School when schools are dismissed. They are scheduled to arrive back in Canyon about 8:30 p.m.

Roma Johnson, Les Amies president, noted that the members will be touring the Girlstown facilities and present their annual donation. Along with a monetary donation of $30, the Less Amies will be providing a basket filled with canned goods to be collected from the membership Monday afternoon.

Fondue Party For Alumnae

A fondue party for the Canyon Alumnae Association of Alpha Delta Pi sorority was held Tuesday evening, Dec. 9, at the home of Mrs. Max Gordon, 4400 Charlene in Amarillo.

About 20 members were present for the holiday event and gift exchange with Mrs. Elton Cox and Miss Billie Bee Flesher as co-hostesses.

The alumnae president, Mrs. Willie McAlpin, presided during an informal business meeting. Next meeting of the group will be on Feb. 10 at the Methodist Student Center, 107 26th Street, when a salad supper is planned to entertain the collegiate chapter of the sorority.

Arlene Kay Koch and Richard James Paschel

Miss Koch-Paschel Planning Marriage

Miss Arlene Kay Koch and Richard James Paschel are planning marriage vows to be read January 30, 1976 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger.

Miss Koch is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Koch of Umbarger and Max Koch of Monroe, Nebraska. She is a 1975 graduate of Canyon High School and is currently employed with Palo Duro Hospital of Canyon.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Paschel of Vega. He is a 1973 graduate of Vega High School and is currently associated with his father in farming operations.

Miss Guidry Honored With Bridal Event

A wedding shower honoring Miss Janet Guidry and John Michael Harter was held Saturday morning, Dec. 6, at the Raymond Lumry home, 505 Taylor Lane.

Miss Guidry and her fiance are planning marriage vows for Dec. 30.

Shower guests were received by Mrs. Lumry and presented to the honoree, Miss Guidry, and her mother, Mrs. Marion Guidry of Canyon, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Joseph W. Harter of Lubbock. Miss Barbara Harter, sister of the prospective bridegroom, presided at the guest book.

An imported cutwork cloth was used at the refreshment table where guests were served coffee, spiced tea, a fruit plate and miniature pastries. The table was accented with a silver candelabra amidst a sapphire blue and white floral centerpiece in the bride-elect's chosen colors. Mrs. Martin Beagle served at the refreshment table.

Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames John Dietz, Crews Henry, Jesse Jones, Tom Collins, Clem Dugan, Lawrence Hunnicutt, Cecil Berry, Daryle Brooks, Frank Daughterty, and John Childs.

Surprise Shower For Miss Frische

A surprise personal shower honoring Miss Joan Frische, bride-elect of Charles Stocker, was held Sunday afternoon, Dec. 7, with her bridal attendants as hostess.

The occasion was at the home of Mrs. Henry Ramaekers with hostesses including Mrs. Glenn Lott, Mrs. Henry Ramaekers, Miss Aline Stocker, Miss Kim Wieck and Miss Elaine Frische.

Cake and punch were served along with tidbits of assorted fruits which were dipped in a fondue sauce and served to about 30 guests. The table was decorated in the bride-elect's chosen color scheme of blue tones and featured a blue candlelight centerpiece.

Shower Honors Miss Holladay

A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Royce Holladay, bride-elect of Jose Martinez, was held Saturday, Dec. 6, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Rex Chitwood, 700 Taylor Lane.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Chitwood, Miss Holladay, and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Holladay. A special guest was the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Ralph Campbell of Amherst, Texas.

The bride's chosen colors were carried out in the table decorations with the table being laid with a burgundy skirt covered with an ivory lace cloth. The centerpiece was burgundy and ivory carnations arranged in a silver and crystal epergne with burgundy candles in silver candelabra on either side.

Miss JoTisa Holladay of Canyon registered guests. Miss Glenda Holladay of Santa Fe, N.M., and Mrs. Ottis Patterson of Livingston, Tex., sisters of the bride-elect, served cranberry punch and ivory cake squares topped with burgundy bells.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. L.G. Airhart, Amarillo, Mrs. George White and Miss Nancy White, Happy, and Mrs. A.B. Berry, Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Mrs. Douglas Jones, Mrs. Carroll Killingsworth, Mrs. Georgia Lee, Mrs. Ricky Mantooth, Mrs. Gene Sunderman, Mrs. Nathan Watson, and Mrs. Morris Westberry of Canyon.

Fine Arts Club Meets Tuesday

"The Black Madonna" will be given by Donna Wilson as the member in action report of the Fine Arts Club of Canyon at their meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 16.

The program will be a surprise package for the holiday to be presented by Donna Umberson and Marilyn Dees.

Hostess is Mary Haraden, 1207 7th Avenue, with Carolyn Kite as co-hostess. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Party-Dinner For Gardeners

The annual Christmas Party and dinner for members of the Canyon Garden Club will be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 16, at the R.L. Grigsby home, 902 25th Street.

A songfest of Christmas carols, exchange of gifts and program on the Christmas Story will highlight the meeting. Hazel Wells will present the program and co-hostesses for the evening are Martha Goodman, Mrs. V.B. Hubbard and Lewis Harvey.

Bridal Gifts Are Presented

A miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Michele Miller, bride-elect of Robert Henry Glisar, was held Saturday morning, Dec. 6, at the Canyon Country Club home of Mrs. Bruce Winn.

Guests were received from 10 a.m. to 11:30 by the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. Charlie A. Miller of Canyon. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Cummins of New Cumberland, Pennsylvania, formerly of Amarillo.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of forest green and ivory were featured in the floral centerpiece which adorned the refreshment table. Punch, cake, nuts and mints were served with crystal and silver appointments being used for the occasion.

Miss Miller and her fiance are planning marriage vows to be exchanged December 27 at the First United Methodist Church of Canyon.

Assisting Mrs. Winn with hostess duties were Mrs. Floyd Lassiter, Mrs. Jerry Bailey, Mrs. Mark Vaughn and Miss Penny Bolerjack.

Mrs. Elloese Burgess

Doll Collection Decorates Family Tree

"I've loved dolls ever since my father gave me a special Schoenhut doll back in 1922," states Elloese Burgess, mother and grandmother, who this year has decorated her holiday tree with about 250 dolls from her own special collection.

"I really got into the collecting of dolls back in 1939," she says, "and this is my first year to decorate our tree with the dolls."

Mrs. Burgess, who has taught at Rex Reeves Elementary School since 1952, has decorated her tree with a variety of dolls which bring back special memories of trips through the years and numerous special occasions.

Many of the miniature dolls on the tree are also gifts from friends who have learned of her collection. She has dolls which are dressed in scraps of college graduation outfits and wedding dresses.

Among her collection is a pioneer doll from the first "TEXAS" outdoor drama concession and a Scarlett O'Hara doll which she purchased after seeing the movie.

Two of the dolls on the tree have a special life ahead as both are to be gifts for her grandchildren, Gregory and Tera Cox, in years to come. Both dolls were purchased to commemorate the grandchildren's births.

Framing the doll decorated Christmas tree are other special dolls including one which had been in the attic of the Burgess' daughter-in-law, Jeannie, nigh onto 60 years. The doll is dressed in her father's childhood dress and wears a bonnet which has been in the Burgess family since 1840.

Another of the dolls sitting beside the tree is attired in a long dress and bonnet found in the Burgess family trunk and is worn by a doll which belonged to their daughter, Linda, in her childhood.

Holiday Treats For Homemakers

SNOWBALL CAKE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
4 tablespoons cold water
2 cup boiling water
Juice of 1 lemon
1 (15¼-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1 cup sugar
1 large angel food cake
3 (2-ounce) packages whipped topping mix, divided
1 cup frozen coconut
Red cake coloring (optional)

Soften gelatin in cold water; add boiling water and stir until gelatin has dissolved. Cool. Add lemon juice, pineapple, and sugar; chill until mixture begins to set. Fold in two packages whipped topping mix, prepared as directed on package.

Arrange broken pieces of cake in topping mixture and stir well. Spoon mixture into a large mixing bowl lined with waxed paper; cover and refrigerage overnight. Unmold and frost with the remaining package of frosting mix, prepared according to package directions. Sprinkle with coconut, which may be tinted with cake coloring if desired. Yield: 12 to 16 servings.

Crusty Pecan Squares

1 roll of slice and bake cookies (either peanut butter or plain sugar type)
1 pkg. (4-oz.) instant butterscotch pudding mix
1½ cups pecan halves
¾ cup dark corn syrup
Two-thirds cup milk
1 egg
½ tsp. vanilla, if desired
dash of salt

Slice the cookie dough into ¼-inch slices and place in ungreased 13 x 9 inch pan. Press dough over bottom and ¾-inches up the side of pan.

Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Pour into crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes until edges are golden brown and filling is set. Cool completely and cut into squares. Makes 12 servings.

Strawberry Bread

3 cups flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1½ tsp. cinnamon
2 cups sugar
2 cups frozen strawberries, thawed
4 well-beaten eggs
1¼ cups salad oil
One and one-third cups chopped nuts

Sift flour, salt, soda, cinnamon and sugar together. Combine strawberries, eggs, salad oil and chopped nuts. Make a deep well in the flour mixture and add strawberry mixture stirring gently until all dry ingredients are moistened. Pour batter into two greased and floured loaf pans, 9½ x 5 x 3 inches. Bake at 325 degrees for 55 minutes.

Bread may also be baked in 12-ounce fruit juice cans. Generously grease 8 cans and fill ½-full. Bake 40 minutes at 325 degrees until done.

Pecan Casserole Cake

½ cup warm water
2 pkg active dry yeast
One-third cup margarine melted
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup evaporated milk
1 egg separated
2 cups unsifted flour
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
One-third cup sugar
½ cup finely chopped pecans
One-third cup raisins

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved.

Add margarine, ¼ cup of sugar, milk, egg yolk, salt and vanilla. Stir in flour to make soft dough. Cover and let rise in warm place, free of draft for one hour. (Dough will not yet be doubled in bulk.)

Turn dough out onto floured board and roll into a 20 x 6-inch rectangle. Beat egg white until stiff and gradually beat in One-third cup of the sugar until mixture is glossy and stands in soft peaks. Fold in ½ cup of the chopped pecans and raisins. Spread mixture on dough.

Roll up from long side in a jelly roll fashion and pinch edges to seal. Arrange in a coil in a greased 1½ quart round casserole dish. Cover and let rise in warm place, free of draft, for a half hour.

Bake in 375 degree oven for 35 minutes until done. When cooled, frost with a confectioner's sugar frosting and sprinkle with additional chopped pecans.

Easy Chocolate Roll-Up

This is a cake and filling which bake together. Bake in a 375 degree oven — serves 8-10.

Line a 15 x 10 jelly roll pan with foil and melt ¼ cup butter in pan. Sprinkle with:

1 cup chopped pecans
One and One-third cups flaked coconut
1 can (15½ oz.) sweetened condensed milk

Drizzle the condensed milk over layer of nuts and coconut in pan and then prepare the cake filling:

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
One-third cup cocoa
Two-thirds cup flour
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. baking soda
One-third cup water
1 tsp. vanilla

In mixer bowl beat eggs at high speed for two minutes until fluffy and gradually add sugar, continue beating for two minutes. Stir in flour and add remaining ingredients. Blend at low speed and pour evenly over the filling layer.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes until cake springs back when touched in center.

Sprinkle top of cake with powdered sugar and cover with a towel, invert cookie sheet over top and allow to cool. Remove the pan and foil and starting with short side of cake roll up jelly-roll fashion, using towel to roll cake. Leave wrapped in towel until ready to serve.

SESAME SEED COFFEE RING

1 pkg. active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water (not hot — 110 to 115 degrees)
¾ cup lukewarm milk, scalded, then cooled
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 egg
¼ cup soft shortening
3½ to 3¾ cups Flour

Dissolve yeast in water. Stir in remaining ingredients — except add only half the flour. Mix with spoon until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to handle easily; mix with hand or spoon. Turn onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic (about 5 min.). Round up in greased bowl, bring greased-side-up. Cover; let rise in warm place (85 degrees) until double (about 1½ hr.). (If kitchen is cool, place bowl of dough on a rack over a bowl of hot water and cover completely with a towel.) Punch down; let rise again until almost double, about 30 min.

TO SHAPE THE COFFEE RING: Brown ½ cup sesame seeds in 2 tbsp. butter; stir constantly. Cool. Roll dough on lightly floured board into oblong, 15x9". Spread with sesame seeds; sprinkle with ¼ cup of sugar and 1 tsp. cinnamon.

Roll up tightly, beginning at wide side. Pinch edges together to seal. Shape sealed-edge-down into ring on greased baking sheet. Pinch ends together. With scissors, cut 2-3 through ring at 1" intervals. Turn each section on its side. Let rise until double, 40 min. Heat oven to 375 degrees (quick mod.). Bake 25 min., or until golden brown. Frost while warm with icing (sifted confectioners' sugar moistened with cream).

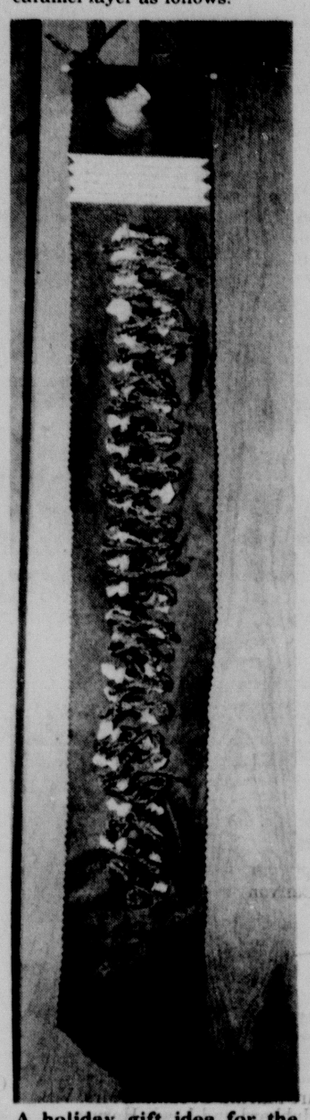

Butter Pecan Turtle Cookies

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees.

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup butter, softened

In three quart bowl combine all crust ingredients and mix at medium speed, scraping sides of bowl often. Mix for 2-3 minutes until well mixed and particles are fine. Pat firmly into an ungreased 13 x 9 x 2 pan.

Pour 1 cup whole pecans over unbaked crust and prepare the caramel layer as follows:

A holiday gift idea for the holiday countdown was presented to the newsroom this week and would be a simple matter, even for the youngsters themselves. The verse on the banner states: "As you wait for Santa's sleigh, — — Untie a candy roll each day, — — When you reach the bell so bright, — — Christmas will be here that night."

Two-Thirds cup butter
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

Combine the caramel ingredients in 1 quart saucepan and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until entire surface of mixture begins to boil. Boil for ½ to 1 minute stirring constantly. Pour over the crust layer and bake in 350 degree oven for 18-22 minutes until caramel layer is bubbly and crust is light golden brown. Remove from oven and immediately sprinkle with 1 cup milk chocolate chips.

Allow the chips to melt slightly (about 2-3 minutes) and slightly swirl chips as they melt, leaving some whole for a marbled effect. DO NOT spread the chips. Cool completely. Makes 3 to 4 dozen bars.

PETITE BRIOCHE

1 pkg active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
½ cup milk
¾ cup soft butter-margarine
¼ cup sugar
½ Tbsp. salt
4 cups flour, approx.
3 eggs
5 egg yolks
melted butter
1 Tbsp. milk

Sprinkle yeast on warm water and let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Scald milk.

Combine butter, sugar and salt and add to the hot milk. Let stand until lukewarm. Stir in one half cup of the flour. Stir softened yeast and add to mixture. Mix well. Beat in another 1½ cups of the flour. Add eggs and four of the yolks, one at a time beating well after each addition.

Beat in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Beat for five minutes and turn into large greased bowl. Brush top with melted butter.

Cover and refrigerate for 12 hours or overnight. Turn out onto lightly floured surface and shape two-thirds of the dough into 1½-inch balls.

Place balls in small greased brioche pans or 2-inch muffin pans. Shape an equal number of small balls from remaining dough. Roll each small ball into a cone shape and make a small dent in center of each large ball. Insert the tips of the cone shaped dough and cover with a damp towel.

Let rise in warm place until doubled and combine remaining egg yolk with milk; brush over surface of the brioches. Bake for 15-18 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees, or until deep golden brown. Makes 18.

Holiday Concerts In Canyon

Canyon High School choirs will present their annual Christmas concert for the public Monday night at 7 p.m. in the CHS auditorium.

The mixed chorus, chorale and the madrigal singers will be presenting the holiday program. Included in the concert are "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," "Bring A Torch," "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Carol of the Bells," "Fum, Fum" and "Unto Us Is Born A Son."

Annual holiday concert by the band of Canyon High School will be presented Tuesday evening, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the CHS auditorium. The program is open to the public and will include selections such as "Procession of the Nobles," "Ellington Portrait," "Brazillian Sleighbells," "Great Songs of Christmas" and "Stars and Stripes Forever."

* * *

The sixth grade choir at Rex Reeves will present a program for parents Dec. 16 at 7:30 in the all-purpose room.

On Wednesday, sixth graders will sing for the intermediate grades and a select group will perform for the Lions Club that day.

The junior high choir and band students will present a combined musical program Wednesday at 12:45 in the CJHS auditorium.

The symphonic band and seventh grade band will be featured and all the choirs will perform.

Selections will include "Hail to Lords Annointed," sung by the seventh grade boys' choir; seventh grade girls singing "Angels We Have Heard on High," "I Hear Bells," with the eighth grade boys' choir and eighth grade girls singing "Rudolph's Christmas Medley."

The ninth grade chorus will sing "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "Lo, How a Rose Ere Blooming," "Kyrie Eleison" and "Deck the Halls."

The combined choirs and the symphonic band will play a medley of Yuletide songs.

The University Concert and Symphonic Bands of West Texas State University will be presenting their annual Christmas concert Monday afternoon, Dec. 15, in the Branding Iron Theatre.

The 135-piece Concert Band and 85-piece Symphonic Band will be performing at 3 p.m. under the direction of Dr. Gary Garner, professor of music. Also conducting will be Paul Worosello, graduate assistant from Canyon.

James Andrews, a 1967 graduate of WTSU from Vega and current band director for Alice, Texas schools, is the composer of one of the special selections, "Variants," which will be presented for the first time at the concert. He was awarded the $1,000 first prize for best new band competition at the 1974-75 College Band Directors National Association meeting in Berkeley, Calif., last year. That prize winning composition was "Sinfoniette for Band," which was written for his master's thesis at WT in 1974.

Schola Madrigalis singers from West Texas State University were presented in a holiday concert Friday in the lobby of the First National Bank of Canyon. The concert was directed by Lee Kendle and was open to the public.

* * *

The Branding Iron Theatre of the Fine Arts Building at West Texas State University was filled with holiday music last Sunday afternoon and evening as special public concerts were presented. The Chorale under the direction of Dr. Hugh Sanders performed during the afternoon with an evening program presented by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and the Men's Glee Club with Lee Kendle, Canyon senior, as conductor.

Students Learn By Giving Party

Senior citizens helped teach WTSU community recreation students this week by coming to a party.

The students in Mary Hill's class organized the party as part of their preparation for careers in community recreation.

The party included homemade ice cream, games, skits, a buffet and caroling.

Refreshments were donated by McDonalds, Ponca Wholesale Company, Saga, Jack's Grocery, Taylor and Sons Grocery and Overhead Door Company.

Gifts were distributed by the Christmas Fairy at the Canyon Dames holiday brunch Thursday morning. The fairy, Kim, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Longbine and is shown presenting a gift from the holiday tree to Evelyn Kopczynski.

Genealogical Society Officially Formed

The High Plains Genealogical Society was officially formed in Canyon Tuesday at the Cornette Library.

This special meeting was scheduled for the adoption of a constitution and for the election of officers.

Anyone having an interest in genealogy in Canyon or the surrounding communities is invited to become a part of the society. The calendar year for the club will start with the January meeting. This meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 27, at the Cornette Library. Charter members will be established as anyone paying their dues before or during the meeting.

Regular meeting time for the group will be the fourth Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. Programs and ways of exchanging information that will help both beginning and more experienced persons having an interest in genealogy are planned for the year.

Named to the committee for the constitution and bylaws were Alan Gabehart, Edith Priddy, Joan Reynolds and Betty Swaringen. The nominating committee was chaired by Dr. C.C. Callarman with members, Naomie Cunningham, Lois Prichard, and Scott Downing.

Gabehart, has been chosen to be the first president. He has a degree in genealogy and is currently a staff member at the Cornette Library.

Joan Reynolds will be the vice-president and program chairman, and Edith Priddy will serve as secretary. Garrett Welch is the treasurer, and Lois Prichard is the historian.

Active dues for the organization will be $3 yearly; sustaining dues will be $5 yearly, and patronage dues are those contributing $100 and having the privileges of the society for life.

Dues may be sent to either Alan Gabehart, 1909 10th Ave., or Garrett Welch, 2428 14th Ave.

Cooperation — Passable Roads

The cooperation of rural and suburban postal customers in helping to keep private roads passable and approaches to mail boxes clear during the coming winter months was requested last week by Postmaster Lee Roy Moreland.

Sue Hite Christmas Party

The home of Mrs. Sidney Burgess, was the scene of the Sue Hite Christmas party. Co-hostess for the annual affair were: Audrey Jones, Betty Stoker, Hazel Walsh and Martha Kent.

As the members arrived they were served from a festive table centered with white poinsettias and accented with blue candles. The appointments were silver and the table was laden with lovely Christmas cookies and candies. Frances Holman, seated, poured the holiday punch.

The Christmas spirit was heightened as members joined in the singing of carols, led by Donna Wilson. Deepening the appreciation for these carols were bits of information given by Mrs. Wilson regarding the origin of the carols — the inspiration, motivation, or circumstances under which they came to be.

The group then viewed the following films: "Christmas in Norway," Christmas in England," and "Where Our Christmas Customs Come From." As Martha Goodman showed these colorful and beautifully narrated films, she made many appropriate comments.

Adding to the atmosphere of the occasion was the gift exchange, planned and carried out by Kitty Foster and Beulah Miller. Each person brought a gift, drew a number and then at a given time all opened and showed their gifts. Some handmade, some home-baked, and all well chosen, said "Merry Christmas" in the nicest, most personal way. As members began to depart they all surely felt that Christmas was, and has always been, more than just another holiday!

Funeral Services Held

Funeral services for Pearle Ann May, 85, were conducted Saturday morning, Dec. 13, at Schooler-Gordon Funeral Chapel in Canyon with Rev. Hubert Thomson, retired Methodist minister, officiating.

Born June 6, 1890 at Grant City, Mo., she had been a resident of Canyon since 1903. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Canyon and assisted with McDonald's Dress Shop here. She died at 6:55 p.m. Thursday at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

Burial was conducted at Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors of Canyon. Pallbearers included Richard Miller, Morris Westberry, Joe Mercer, Robert J. Fulton, R. W. Thompson, Dick Loudder, Johnny Rowan and Jerry LaGrone.

Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. J. Alvin McDonald of 2000 3rd Avenue, Canyon; a granddaughter, Mrs. Farrell Devenport of Amarillo; great-grandson, Stan Devenport of Amarillo; a sister, Mrs. Geneva Fulton of Canyon; and a nephew, H.R. Fulton, Jr. of Canyon.
